VOL. XXI.......NO. 6245. NEW-YORK, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1871. PRICE FOUR CENTS.

THE REIGN OF FRAUD.

Last Days of the Regime of Hall, Sweeny and Tweed.

Further Exemplifications of the Villainy of the Ring.

Defending the Burglars by Attacking Judge Ledwith.

Further Testimony in the Case of Hagerty and Balch.

Efforts to Obstruct the Action of the Investigating Committee.

The war waged by the citizens of New-York upon the "Ring" continues to be the all-absorbing topic of conversation. The people are more in earnest than they have ever been before, and will use all lawful means to sustain the Reform Committee in their good work, but if lawless violence is employed against them, the community have already demonstrated that those whom they have delegated to fight their battles will be found prepared to resist any force which may be brought against them.

The examination of the voucher robbers in the Court of Special Sessions, yesterday, developed no new features. The servant-girl, MARY CONWAY, gave her testimony in a clear, explicit and coherent manner, and notwithstanding every effort was made by Mr. GRAHAM in his rigid cross-examination to confuse the witness, not a single point in her affidavit was shaken in the slightest. Mr. GRAHAM, as will be seen, in opening the case made a violent attack upon all who are connected with the reform movement. The Committee of Seventy he denounced in no unmeasured terms, and charged them with being an assemblage of political soreheads, actuated solely by partisan motives. The Press came in for its share of Mr. GRAHAM'S denunciation, and its representatives at the Court were spoken of as "conversational speculators." Mr. GRAHAM will undoubtedly make a strong effort to prevent the prisoners HAGERTY and BALCH from being fully committed by Judge DOWLING.

The Board of Supervisors held a meeting yesterday, at which the most important business called up was a demand made upon them by the Joint Committee for persons and papers to facilitate their investigation into the financial condition of the City. After a very lengthy discussion, during which the power of the Board to comply with the demand, and the legality of the question, were explained by Mr. Recorder HACKETT, the Board did nothing but refer the matter to a committee of three to consult counsel as to their power to accede to the demand. Mr. HALL construed Judge BARNARD'S decision as was expected, and will use it to produce a perfect dead-lock in the administration of Municipal affairs.

THE VOUCHER BURGLARY.

Continuation of the Examination of Hagerty and Balch — Violent Address of John Graham—Rigid Examination of Mary Conway.

The Special Sessions Court-room was again densely crowded yesterday. At 11 A. M. the prisoners were brought in, and were seated directly in the rear of their counsel. HAGERTY preserved the same nonchalant air which marked his behavior on Friday. BALCH did not appear so confident. Within the railing were Judges BARRETT and BEACH, District-Attorney GARVIN and Mr. RUFUS ANDREWS. Hon. WM. F. HAVEMEYER was also present for a short while during the morning. A little after 11 o'clock Mr. JOHN GRAHAM and Judge BEACH entered the Court-room and took their places at the lawyers' table, where for a few moments the five lawyers—GARVIN, GRAHAM, BEACH, BARRETT and ANDREWS—held an earnest conversation, after which

Mr. JOHN GRAHAM said that he wished to expose Justice LEDWITH publicly for his treatment of his client on Saturday, saying that he was a tool, and had taken advantage of his absence to have his client admitted to bail, when he knew that her counsel would not have permitted her to give bail any more than he would have stabbed Justice LEDWITH to the heart.

Mary CONWAY, the servant-girl of HAGERTY, who was examined on Friday, was then cross-examined by Mr. GRAHAM. The time when she awoke on the 10th inst. was about 6½ o'clock; she did not know by the clock, as it was stopped; she described the plan of HAGERTY'S rooms in the Court-house.

ATTACK ON JUDGE LEDWITH.

Mr. GRAHAM again addressed Justice DOWLING in regard to Justice LEDWITH and Mrs. HAGERTY, and denounced as an unfounded slander the report that HAGERTY and BALCH had been arrested at the time they were for the purpose of preventing their examination before Justice LEDWITH. He had thought of endeavoring to obtain a writ of habeas corpus for the release of Mrs. HAGERTY, on the ground that Justice LEDWITH was a member of the Committee of Seventy, and was, therefore, an interested party, but had relinquished this plan because it would indicate a suspicion of his integrity. He concluded on Saturday to send him a note notifying him that no hearing of the complaint against Mrs. HAGERTY would be asked for on her part before him, and requesting him to either discharge her without bail, or to finally commit her to prison. Had she been committed to prison, the speaker intended to apply for her release this morning in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. What Justice LEDWITH did was to take the trembling woman into his retiring-room, fill it with curious representatives of the Press, and cause her to give bail in the absence of her counsel. The speaker commended the objects of the Committee of Seventy, and said he would be the last man to question the integrity of many of its members, but he believed that the action it had taken wholly incapacitated Justice LEDWITH, a member of that Committee, to act as a judicial officer in these proceedings. He read the resolution of the Committee requesting District-Attorney GARVIN to virtually resign, and said that THOMAS A. LEDWITH—that indecent official—was one of those who adopted that resolution. If Justice LEDWITH belonged to the Committee of Seventy let him act with it, but let him not peddle out his warrants for the benefit of that Committee. The speaker referred to the attack of the Committee on WILLIAM M. TWEED, and said that when Mr. TWEED fell thousands of poor families would fall who depended upon his benefactions.

Justice DOWLING said that he did not perceive the relevancy of Mr. GRAHAM'S last remarks. Mr. GRAHAM replied that they were necessary to show the means which are now used to intimidrte the Courts.

Ex-Judge BARRETT arose and said that Mrs. HAGERTY was distinctly told when before Justice LEDWITH, not to say anything in the absence of her counsel. In regard to Mr. GRAHAM'S statement that the Committee of Seventy suspected the integrity of Mr. GARVIN, he would say that if he could reveal the secrets of the committee-room he would say that high commendations had been bestowed upon him.

District-Attorney GARVIN described his action in the case, and said that since he had held his office no influence of any kind had ever induced him to relinquish the prosecution of a guilty person, or to oppose the release of a person whom he believed innocent. Mrs. HAGERTY was properly committed, but when it appeared that she was the wife of EDWIN M. HAGERTY it was impossible to hold her, as the law presumed her to act under the coercion of her husband. If it appears at this examination that HAGERTY and BALCH are guilty they should be committed for trial, and if found guilty they will be sent to State Prison as sure as there is an overruling power. When he was asked to receive assistance in the prosecution of this case he refused, for the reason that he had never taken assistance of the kind without regretting it.

Mr. GRAHAM said that the District-Attorney had supported his assertion that Mrs. HAGERTY should have been released without bail. He resumed his remarks in regard to the conduct of Justice LEDWITH, but was interrupted by Justice DOWLING, who said that he had no jurisdiction over the person assailed. Mr. GRAHAM, however, read a notice which was served on Saturday on the District-Attorney, informing the latter of the course he intended to pursue in regard to Mrs. HAGERTY.

MARY CONWAY CROSS-EXAMINED.

After a few further remarks the cross-examination of MARY CONWAY was proceeded with. She said: I heard Mr. HAGERTY speaking with his wife in his room on the Saturday night of the robbery; I didn't understand what he said; saw CHARLEY BALCH on Saturday evening about six o'clock; he was at the door of the Controller's office when I saw him; heard BALCH cry out, "MURPHY, are you there?" I was watching in the kitchen, as I thought there was something wrong.

Witness continued: I went out, and saw the man with the gray clothes coming up the stairs with the papers in his hand; he was a well-dressed man, and had the appearance of a gentleman; the third man followed Mr. HAGERTY upstairs, and had bundles of papers on his arm; he and HAGERTY appeared as though they had as much as they could carry; the man with the gray clothes, after going into the room with the bundle, went down-stairs again with a pillow-case in his hand; I didn't see HAGERTY again until Tuesday before he went to Saratoga; I haven't been taken anywhere to identify any man brought before me.

Q.—Did you know it was CHARLEY BALCH was asking, "MURPHY, are you there?" before you saw him? No, Sir; I didn't recognize his voice until I saw him from the stairway.

Q.—When the man came out of the room with the pillow-case apparently full, did no one come out to see that nobody else was looking? A.—No, Sir; I didn't see anybody coming out as though they were watching to see whether any people were looking; I didn't see any person looking when CHARLEY BALCH said to the man, "this way."

Q.—How long a time was it from CHARLEY BALCH saying, "this way," and your going to the bureau to examine after the missing pillow-case? A.—A few minutes; could not say exactly; I then returned to the kitchen, and no person was on the look-out. Mrs. HAGERTY was the first person I told what I had seen to; I told it to her on Tuesday; I told it to Mrs. HAGERTY'S brother, the detective, on Friday.

Q.—When in reference to that Saturday did you first hear of a reward? A.—I don't know; I had an appointment with the watchman that evening, but didn't keep it; I left the HAGERTY'S that evening; it was dread of arrest that made me leave, as I was in fear all the week; on the following Thursday HAGERTY came to me and found fault with me for telling his wife about it; he told me that CHARLEY BALCH had committed a burglary to benefit him, and that he had done it for somebody else.

Q.—What did you tell him? A.—I told him that I saw the man with the gray clothes coming upstairs, and related to him in full all of what I had seen.

Q.—How long were you in Controller CONNOLLY'S house, Park-avenue and Thirty-seventh-street, on Monday? A.—A few minutes.

Q.—Did MURPHY make an appointment with you to go to the Controller's house on Monday? Did you tell him all the transaction? A.—Yes, Sir; there was no one present but the Controller, MURPHY and myself.

Q.—Had you agreed with MURPHY to tell the Controller all you knew before you went to the Controller's house? A.—I said I would tell him all I had seen; I can't tell why I didn't tell the story sooner.

Q.—Did Controller CONNOLLY say anything to you about his being suspected, and wishing to show who the thieves were? A.—He said there was a man arrested on suspicion.

Q.—Did he tell you he had been suspected himself? A.—Not that I recollect.

Q.—Do you mean to make a claim to a reward if your testimony should convict Mr. HAGERTY or Mr. BALCH? A.—I don't know. The witness was severely cross-examined on this point, and repeated the answer "I don't know," invariably.

Redirect—Do you know the name of the gentleman before whom you swore your affidavit? A.—I cannot say.

Q.—Was it Justice LEDWITH, do you know? A.—I cannot tell.

Recross—Mr. HAGERTY had on light pants, dark coat, light hat and a clean shirt on the occasion of the burglary; he was cleaned and shaved, and looked as though he were made up for the day.

Mr. BEACH was called, and also Mr. BARRETT, to prove that Justice LEDWITH was not present when the affidavit was sworn to. Mr. BARRETT said he saw MARY CONWAY leave in company with a man named DANIEL BOSTWICK; the affidavit was sworn to in the office of Mr. BEACH; it was on Wednesday, and the prisoners were arrested at 8 o'clock that night; saw Justice LEDWITH at 2 o'clock that afternoon; had not seen him before on that day.

An adjournment here took place until 11 o'clock Friday morning.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

A Communication from the Deputy Controller—The Mayor's Understanding of Judge Barnard's Injunction—Is the Joint Investigating Committee to Have Power to Send for Persons and Papers?

The Board of Supervisors met at 1 P. M., yesterday, Mayor HALL in the chair.

The following bills were referred to appropriate Committees:

For refreshments furnished Eleventh Regiment during the riot, $450; also Twenty-seventh Regiment, $987 27; ROE & Co., stationery for county offices, $3,042 50; P. J. FINN, for stenographic report of inquest in the Westfield case, $430.

The Sheriff's bill for commitments during the month of August was also presented.

The Mayor remarked that the Board had not yet fixed the amount to be paid for their services, and the bill was accordingly referred to a committee.

A copy of Judge BARNARD'S injunction was read and referred to the Committee on Finance; and a copy of the proclamation of the Mayor in regard to election districts, which was placed on file.

A communication from the Finance Department signed by Deputy Controller GREEN was read, asking the Board to act upon the following resolutions of the Board of Apportionment:

Whereas, It appears that the valuations of real and personal estates for the year 1871, in the County of New-York, amount in the aggregate to $1,076,253,633, and by the laws of 1871, authority is given the Board of Supervisors of New-York to raise by tax upon estates, real and personal, subject to taxation in the City and County of New-York in the year 1871 the amount directed to be raised by the Board of Apportionment, a sum equal to two per cent. upon the valuations, in addition to the excess of the quota of the State tax for said County.

Resolved, That the Board of Supervisors be directed to raise by tax in the year 1871, upon the estates of real and personal property, the following amounts: A tax of two per cent. upon the valuations of property, real and personal, subject to taxation:

Valuations..........		$1,076,253,633 00
Two per cent. on this amount is........		21,525,072 66
An amount to meet the excess of State tax for 1871 over that of 1870, viz.:
State taxes in 1871..........	$6,741,956 18
State taxes in 1870..........	4,904,501 22—	1,837,454 96
Total..........		$23,362,527 62

On motion of the Mayor, the communication was referred to the Finance Committee. The Mayor remarked that the injunction restrained the Board from raising any tax, as he understood it, and it would be for the Committee to consider what course to pursue.

The Clerk presented a large roll of bills for advertising.

The Mayor said that if he understood the injunction, no bills at all could be passed by the Board unless an appropriation had been previously made for them, and as no appropriation had been made for those bills, they must lie over. He then asked the Clerk what was the gross amount of the bills, but received no answer.

The following communication was read:

OFFICE CLERK OF THE COMMON COUNCIL, }
CITY HALL, NEW-YORK, Sept. 21, 1871. }

Hon. A. Oakey Hall, Mayor, and Presiding Officer of the Board of Supervisors:

SIR: At a meeting of the Joint Committee of the Board of Supervisors and of the Board of Aldermen appointed to examine the City and County accounts, held this day, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the Honorable the Board of Supervisors of the County of New-York be and they are hereby respectfully requested by proper resolutions to confer upon the members of their body who have been duly appointed a committee to act with a committee of the Board of Aldermen of the City of New-York in making an examination of the accounts and financial condition of said County and City of New-York, authority to exercise the powers enumerated and set forth in section 1 of chapter 190 of the laws of 1858.

Yours respectfully, JOHN HARDY,
Clerk of the Joint Committee of the Board of Supervisors and of the Board of Aldermen appointed to examine the City and County accounts.

The following is the section of the law referred to:

SECTION 1. Whenever the Board of Supervisors of any county shall deem it necessary or important to examine any person as a witness, upon any subject or matter within the jurisdiction of such Board, or to examine any officer of the county in relation to the discharge of his official duties, or to the receipt or disbursement by him of any moneys, or concerning the possession or disposition by him of any property belonging to the county, or to use and inspect or examine any book, account, voucher or document in the possession of such officer or other person under his control, relating to the affairs or interests of such county, the Chairman or President of such Board shall issue a subpœna in proper form commanding such person or officer to appear before such Board, at a time and place therein specified, to be examined as a witness, and such subpœna may contain a clause requiring such person or officer to produce on such examination all books, papers and documents in his possession, or under his control, relating to the affairs or interests of the county.

Recorder HACKETT said he would be glad to see such a resolution adopted, but, looking at it in its legal aspect, he doubted very much whether the Board of Supervisors could confer any such power.

Mr. COMAN moved to refer the communication to a special committee, with directions to consult counsel and ascertain the power of the Board.

The Mayor said he was sorry to differ with his learned friend, but if the law of 1865 was still in existence, and had not been repealed, it looked to him very much as if the Committee might have this power. Any way, the resolution was a good thing to pass, legal or illegal. He hoped the largest liberty, or license rather, would be given to the Committee.

Mr. WOLTMAN said: The resolution and request of the Joint Committee appointed to examine the City and County accounts is one deserving of our most serious consideration. The request literally construed is, that the Board of Supervisors may confer upon the Committee of their Board heretofore appointed to examine the City and County accounts, power to send for persons and papers. But such is not the real intention, and such will not be the practical effect, if the resolutions called for by the Joint Committee are adopted. The real object intended to be accomplished is to confer the power to send for persons and papers upon the Committee of Sixteen Citizens who have been associated with the Joint Committee of the Board of Supervisors and of the Board of Aldermen. Mr. WOLTMAN argued that there was no necessity for the passage of such a resolution, as the Subcommittee had not yet reported. He was opposed to what he termed the Star Chamber method of investigation adopted by the Committee of citizens. He would at a proper time vote for such a committee, to be exclusively composed of members of that Board. Finally, Mr. WOLTMAN moved that the communication be referred to a special committee of three.

Recorder HACKETT said he should support the resolution to refer, with directions to the Committee to consult counsel.

Mr. DIMOND said he was in favor of a reference. At first he supposed the Citizens' Committee were acting entirely on their own account, but within the last few days he had become satisfied that they were a mere tender to the Committee of Seventy. They had reported the debt of the City and County to be about $97,000,000, when he was satisfied that it was much smaller. He did not like the manner in which the Committee were acting, and he hoped the resolution would be referred.

Mr. PLUNKITT said if the Board had the power to send for persons and papers, they had not the power to transfer it to another body.

The Mayor said he would like to amend the resolution, so as to read as follows:

Resolved, That the communication be referred to a special committee of three members of this Board for the purpose of consulting counsel, and taking legal advice as to the power of this Board in conferring such authority; and in case such power is conceded, then to draft and report the resolution necessary to confer the plenary powers of the statute.

The resolution was then adopted, and Messrs. COMAN, CHARLOCK and MITCHELL were appointed as members of the Committee.

The Board then adjourned.

Democratic Union General Committee—Tammany Denounced.

A large meeting of the Democratic Union Party was held last evening at Masonic Hall, Thirteenth-street, PATRICK KIERNS in the chair. A considerable amount of disturbance was occasioned on account of the presence of a number of Tammany men. Resolutions denouncing Tammany Hall were adopted, and it was resolved to elect delegates whose duty it shall be to overthrow the present City Government. On motion it was agreed that one delegate should be elected from each Assembly District to the Democratic State Convention to be held at Rochester on the 4th of October.

Presentation to Mr. Tweed—His Favorites Believe the "Boss" to be an Honest and Upright Man.

Yesterday afternoon resolutions, handsomely engrossed, were presented to Mr. TWEED, at the Department of Public Works, by the President of the William M. Tweed Association, Mr. ALEXANDER CLARK, and a presentation Committee. On presenting the resolutions Mr. CLARKE spoke as follows:

"On behalf of the William M. Tweed Association of the Second Ward, we are appointed a delegation to present you with a set of resolutions, intended as a mark of our confidence in you as a public man, and our esteem for you as a private citizen. We believe that you are an honest and upright man, notwithstanding all the calumnies and slanders heaped upon you to gratify the dictates of party spite and hatred. We tender you our undivided support, and will work hard to secure you the 30,000 majority you ask for at the next election."

To which Mr. TWEED replied:

"I thank you, gentlemen, for this token of your esteem. At a time like the present, when public men are being so freely traduced, it is impossible for me to appreciate too highly these evidences of the regard in which I am held by my friends and those who are best acquainted with me. You may be sure that I shall always endeavor to deserve your esteem in the future, as I think I have done in the past."

The delegation then retired.

Fourteenth Ward Irish Republican Association—Address to Irish Citizens—The Ring Denounced.

The Fourteenth Ward Irish Republican Association, numbering 150 members, has issued the following address:

FELLOW-COUNTRYMEN: As members of an Association who believe in and indorse the principles proclaimed by the Republican Party, and having seen and examined minutely into the frauds perpetrated by the Tammany Ring in particular, and the Democratic Party in general, we call upon you to separate yourselves from a faction, the leaders of which have always professed to be your friends, but never in any practical manner showed that they were sincere in their professions. Too long have we been deceived and deluded by a gang of political vultures, who have hitherto succeeded in their selfish, sordid and ambitious purposes by pandering to, and operating upon the passions and prejudices of the Irish American people, who, we regret to say, heretofore allowed themselves to be subservient tools of the vile clique to which we allude. Let us, then, in future exercise our free will and judgment in our selection of those who are supposed to represent us, but who have hitherto only studied their own interests. What we ask, have the Tammany Vem Gherricht—the secret wire-pullers—ever done for the Irish people that they should possess such a mighty influence over them? Nothing, except to give you a couple of weeks work in the parks at election times.

Are you, fellow-citizens, to adhere to this cunning and selfish party? Do you never intend to shake off the mental yoke to which you have so long been willing slaves? We trust that at the approaching election, you will show by your acts that you are never again going to permit yourselves to be made the creatures to subserve the ambitious and self-interested scheme of a vile and corrupt party, which has so often betrayed you, and which never meant to either substantially befriend you or your country.

A Guilty Politician Believed to Have Fled to Europe.

A rumor went flying through the City yesterday to the effect that one of the principal Ring operators, a politician, real estate speculator and a public plunderer, had become so frightened at the threatening aspect of things in general that he had transferred all his real estate and started for Europe on Saturday. A reporter of the TIMES made the round of all the steam-boat offices and inspected the lists of their cabin passengers, but could not see any one of those names which have become so infamous. At the office of one, however, he received information of a man who introduced himself in one name, but was registered in another, and had a false passport under the second and false name. He was a moderately tall, stout man, and at first some fear was experienced that it might be Mr. TWEED escaping from a certain doom, but investigation showed that the great chair-maker had not deserted his mansion on Fifth-avenue, and his palatial stables. It is possible that some one of the Ring may have escaped on board one of the steamers, but it is certainly neither TWEED, SWEENY nor HALL. For the gods being determined to destroy them, have made them mad, and they cannot see the handwriting on the wall so plain to others.

An Ex-Convict Supporting Tweed.

ANDREWS, the man who was sent to State Prison as the leader in the riots of 1863, was one of the principal speakers at the Tweed demonstration on Friday evening last.

Mrs. Hagerty's Bondsman.

JAMES RYAN, the bondsman of Mrs. HAGERTY, is one of Judge DOWLING'S clerks in the Court of Special Sessions.

The Park Laborers Indorse Sweeny.

On Sunday morning a meeting of the laborers and clerks employed on the Central Park was held in the Park Armory, for the purpose of organizing the Park employes, with a view of indorsing PETER B. SWEENY. They agreed to have a public meeting at Brevoort Hall, and the foremen were directed to have their entire force on hand. Subscription lists were to be started and passed around among the employes, for the purpose of defraying expenses in purchasing a banner to be raised in honor of PETER B. SWEENY. BURKE, the rioter, who is a foreman on the Park, was one of the principal speakers, and another foreman said that all employes who did not stand by and indorse SWEENY would be discharged.

DEMOCRATIC REFORM.

Address of the Democratic Reform General Committee to the Democratic Electors of the City and County of New-York.

The Democratic Reform General Committee has issued the following address:

The time has come for Democracy, in its great stronghold, to pass an ordeal from which it shall emerge, if not unscathed, at least assuredly purified and exalted. It is an hour, not for misgivings and despondency, but rather for good hope and great rejoicing, that at last the opportunity offers for the redemption of the grand old party from the shame and degradation into which it has been steeped by the corrupt practices of some of its leaders in this City. No true Democrat, though humiliated by the exposure of the dishonesty of his partisan chiefs, will contemplate that exposure with regret, for it brings to him the privilege, the duty, and the power of devoting himself, with glorious promise of success, to the sacred mission of cleansing the temple of his political faith.

There is no need to recapitulate the crimes of the men to whom have been delegated the guardianship of Democratic interests in this City. The shameful record is before the world in all the hideous blazonry of unmitigated depravity. Honored with trusts and responsibilities that would be, to every heart susceptible to honorable and manly feeling, incentives to scrupulously honest conduct, they have been proven faithless to every trust and to every obligation, and have yielded disgracefully to the promptings of miserable avarice and dishonorable ambition. Not only have they shamed their party—for it is not a simply partisan interest that appeals to you—they have brought the municipality which they have misruled to the verge of ruin, betraying the honor and weakening the credit of the first City of the Republic.

It can do you neither service nor pleasure, Democrats of New-York, to rehearse the history of folly, fraud, and treachery, the proofs of which have been paraded before the public, against the leaders of Tammany Hall. In our Courts of justice, in our public journals, in our public streets, in the households of citizens of every class and of every partisan creed, the humiliating story has been made the theme of discussion, of sorrow, and of indignation. So far as legal responsibility is involved, the Judiciary will doubtless do their duty. Do yours, Democratic citizens, where political responsibility is involved. Too long has it been a reproach and an injury to Democracy that four men should wield its power in its stronghold, even were those four as honest and capable as they have been proved corrupt and reckless. The tremendous machinery of such an organization should, under no circumstances, be abandoned to the absolute sway of any four individuals, whomsoever they may be. Such a dictatorship naturally invites the spirit of corruption into its narrow sphere. Let us hereafter protect the broad principles of Democracy from the peril of false interpretation from the lips of any petty combination of oracles.

We appeal to the Democratic electors of the City and County of New-York to put aside, at this crisis, the lesser objects of their several local and inferior organizations, and, in the presence of the common danger, to unite against the common enemy, making the downfall of the present administration in Tammany and the redemption of the Democratic Party their paramount political obligation.

THE AGENT OF THE RING.

Remarkable Scene at the Late County Auditor Watson's Death-Bed—The Dying Man's Home Guarded by the Ring—Fears of His Making a Confession.

The iniquities of the dismembered Ring have not been half told. Every day something fresh and startling comes to light in regard to the manner in which they schemed to enrich themselves by theft and swindling, and at the same time pile up the public debt. It was generally believed that the last of TWEED and SWEENY'S scandalous Broadway job had been heard from; but it now transpires that there are disclosures remaining which are equally as shameful as any that have heretofore been made. With the death of JAMES WATSON, the late County Auditor, everything tending to connect the Ring with the job was supposed to have forever passed away and to have become silent as the grave which received his body; but rumor now says that new facts have been discovered which drag the names of TWEED, HALL, SWEENY and CONNOLLY prominently into the Broadway-widening swindle. Rumor, apparently well founded, asserts that when the fatal character of the accident which befell WATSON, last Winter, was first communicated to the Ring, it was thrown into the greatest consternation, and that it quickly devised measures to prevent him from divulging what he knew about the great frauds. Dame Rumor goes on to say that County Clerk LOEW, who was personally unpopular with WATSON in his lifetime, Police Justice MCQUADE and another person took possession of the dying man's house, and kept every one away from his bedside known not to be in strict unison with the Ring. GEORGE W. ROOME, keeper of the City Hall, was called on to guard the door of the house and to see that none but the close friends of HALL, TWEED, SWEENY, and CONNOLLY passed through it. The dwelling, in fact, was converted into a sort of restaurant and prison combined, where strangers ate, and slept and watched, compelling WATSON'S stricken family to remove to the top floor to hide their grief and obtain domestic privacy. These harsh arrangements were taken, as before mentioned, to prevent, by all possible chances, the guilty secrets of the Ring from escaping WATSON'S dying lips. He had acted as its "tool" for a long number of years, and was particularly useful as its agent in obtaining purchases and refusals of real estate on the line of the Broadway widening for SWEENY, TWEED & Co. The members of the Ring had provided for enormous amends, and anticipated making large fortunes out of their investments. The death of WATSON could not be averted, however, and consequently their villainy was brought to an abrupt end. Enough facts leaked out about the job to make it highly important that the full story should not come to light in making a settlement of the property left by WATSON, who died intestate. To avert this danger a bill was hurriedly engineered through the Legislature by "Boss" TWEED, annuling the original bill for the widening of Broadway, and enacting a new one in its place. WATSON'S property was taken in charge by the agents of the Ring, and County Clerk LOEW was appointed administrator of the estate. It is said that Mrs. WATSON was given $500,000 by the Ring, but the most probable statement is that she was allowed $2,000 a month, which sum was afterward reduced to $1,200 or $1,000 a month, her present stipend from the Ring. It is also alleged that WATSON'S horses and carriages were taken possession of by the Ring, under the plea of disposing of them for the benefit of his family. One fast animal, worth $5,000, still remains unsold in the custody of Police Justice MCQUADE.

Democratic Union—Large Assemblage—Organizing Against Tammany.

The Roosevelt branch of the Democratic Union held a General Committee meeting last evening at Cooper Institute. Hon. R. B. ROOSEVELT was called to the chair, and Messrs. PHILIP J. MAGUIRE and CHARLES BLAUVELT were chosen Secretaries. Mr. ROOSEVELT, on taking the Chair, made a few remarks, in which he described the struggles of the Democratic Union during the seven years of its existence, against the tyrannical rule of Tammany Hall, which, by force and fraud, had deprived honest Democrats of their power, and had almost ruined the Democratic Party of the City and State. He advised a union with all the Democratic opponents of Tammany Hall, in order to compete successfully in the coming election. The report of the Committee on Organization was read, giving the number of delegates from each Ward, making a total representation of 162.

NELSON J. WATERBURY objected to the smallness of the representation, as it was insufficient to give great efficiency to the organization, and moved that the report be recommitted, which was finally passed, and on motion, Judge WATERBURY was added to the Committee.

When this business had been transacted, Mr. WATERBURY addressed the meeting. He said that he hoped that the fight which the organization would make would be a sincere and earnest contest, and not like the Young Democracy fight of last year; and he suggested that a committee of conference be appointed to confer with all outside Democratic organizations, and unite upon some prominent delegate to the Convention, and also to the several nominating conventions.

A delegate advocated a spirit of concession, in order to break down their common enemy, Tammany Hall, and also moved that a committee be appointed to confer and unite on candidates.

ANTHONY J. OLIVER made a motion to call primaries on Thursday night, as it was useless to wait for a union, as they had already met the other outside organizations, and a union was refused. The motion caused considerable discussion, which was engaged in by Messrs. WATERBURY, RANDALL, GILMORE and LINDEMAN. It was finally settled by the adoption of a motion that a committee of seven be appointed to confer with other organizations, an to prepare a delegate ticket for the State Convention. The Committee was then appointed, and met immediately after the meeting adjourned. It consists of Messrs. Randall, Douglass, Oliver, Hilton, Bennett, Romey and Maguire.

Tammany Democratic-Republican General Committee—The Call for Primaries and Election of Officers for the Ensuing Year—Speech of Mr. Tweed.

The members of the Democratic-Republican General Committee met last evening at Tammany Hall, for the purpose of issuing the call for primaries, to nominate delegates to the various Democratic Conventions, and to elect officers for the ensuing year. Shortly after 8 o'clock, Mr. WM. M. TWEED, who was received with cheers, came on the platform and called the meeting to order. He said:

BROTHERS AND FELLOW-DEMOCRATS: We have met to-night for the purpose of organizing this Committee for the campaign which is now about to take place. I feel satisfied from this manifestation of unanimity on your part, from the expression of your countenances and the smile of victory beaming from every glance of your eye, that we have but to organize, to keep our forces together, to be compact, to be resolute, believing only in the right, submitting to no wrong, legally, peaceably and quietly depositing your ballots, waiting the proper canvass of these ballots to know that on the 7th of November next every man nominated by Tammany will be, as usual, successful. [Applause.] The villifications, the malignant attacks appearing in the daily papers, I know, will make every man reflect, examine and see if those in whom they have placed their trust have executed it satisfactorily, and in a manner agreeable to the people and to the community. All that these standard-bearers ask is, that they have a fair and impartial scrutiny of their acts, and a stern determination to bring to justice all, no matter what their positions may be, who are unfaithful or indifferent to the great interests you have confided to their charge. [Applause.] We feel that when these matters are brought to a Court of Justice we will be vindicated, and that is the only place that we can be vindicated. Newspapers aspersons, malignant attacks, inflammatory resolutions, organizations for the purpose of taking our places, and for no other purpose show conclusively that attacks are not proof, assertions are not evidence. [Applause.] Feeling as I do, gentlemen, that you compose those who are the true representatives of the Democratic Party of the City of New-York, I am prepared, in accordance with the resolutions adopted by the General Committee last year, to hear any resolutions you may offer.

The officers of the organization for 1870 were re-elected unanimously as officers of the association for 1871. The credentials of delegates from the various Wards were then called over. In the Ninth, Twelfth and Sixteenth Wards some discussion arose in regard to the ticket presented, and a special committee was appointed to consider the claims of the contestants. In the Ninth Ward the ticket headed by JAMES R. FLOYD was declared regularly elected. The other Wards were not reported upon.

It was resolved that on the 29th of September primary elections be held in each Assembly District for the election of delegates to the Rochester State Convention, to be held on the 4th of October.

A resolution was also adopted to hold a mass-meeting on the 28th of October, in Union-square and Fourteenth-street, to ratify the Democratic State ticket, and to inaugurate the Fall campaign. A committee of arrangements was appointed, of which Mr. DOUGLAS TAYLOR was Chairman, and a prize was to be offered to the Ward making the most effective demonstration in proportion to its vote. The meeting then adjourned.

The Sixteenth Ward Democrtas—The City Officials Denounced and Called upon to Resign.

A meeting of the Democrats of the Sixteenth Ward was held last night in West Sixteenth-street, at which resolutions were passed stating that they had given Tammany their support on previous occasions, having believed in the honesty of the Democratic leaders, but as their confidence had been most shamefully abused, they have resolved to withdraw their support from Tammany Hall, and they declare themselves opposed to "Ring" rule in all forms. They denounce the course pursued by the City officials in the present crisis, and they conclude by calling on those officials to resign the trust which they have abused.

Eighteenth Ward O'Brien Association.

A very large and effective meeting of the Eighteenth Ward O'Brien Association, named in honor of Ex-Sheriff JAMES O'BRIEN, took place, last evening, at Constitution Hall, Twenty-third-street and Third-avenue. Effective addresses were delivered by Gen. BARNUM, FRANK KEARNEY, Hon. JOSEPH DEMPSEY and other prominent citizens of the Eighteenth and Twentieth Wards. The meeting was presided over by ROBERT B. MOONEY, Esq. A large and beautiful banner, with a good likeness of Mr. O'BRIEN, was cast to the breeze.

Subscriptions for the Committee.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Inclosed please find $5 to help defray the expenses of that noble Committee of Seventy. I represent a large force of laboring men who are anxiously waiting to see what that Committee are going to do. We depend upon them to turn out those thieves, and if they should not do so, it would serve the City and tax-payers right if the Boss & Co. should rob them of all they have. We are worked up to quite a pitch here, and it is wonderful to see how both parties are shoulder to shoulder to rid the City of those wicked thieving knaves.

You make an appeal to honest men to send money to help the Committee of Seventy. I would suggest if every honest man should send $1, it would be the means of seeing the Boss & Co. in Sing Sing. Hoping you will give this a place in the greatest journal the City has, (the NEW-YORK TIMES,) I am, yours, &c.,

AN HONEST DEMOCRAT.

[The money has been sent to the Chairman of the Committee.]

Reform It Altogether.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The one great means of the immense Ring majorities is the facility with which they can appoint all the ward pimps and thieves special police on election days. Cannot something be done to stop this evil, which at the past two elections was the source of preventing many respectable citizens from exercising the right of suffrage? Is the Police Department so entirely in the hands of the Ring that they are compelled to give power as guardians of the peace to these understrappers, is a question of importance to many of the citizens of this well-plundered City. Also, Mr. Editor, would it not be well for some of the Reform Party to find out and give to the public a list of our Representatives in the late corrupt Legislature, both little and big, with the number of positions they hold, the amount of salary they receive, and the duty, if any, they perform for the immense sums they receive annually from the Treasury. These are subjects which honest Democrats, as well as Republicans, would like to have ventilated and kept prominently before the public, and will be valuable as campaign documents in the coming contest of honesty vs. fraud. The old Democratic principle of rotation in office and a fair division of the spoils seems to be entirely forgotten by T. S. C. & Co., alias the Ring.

The Tweed Family as Printers.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In looking over the City Directory for the year ending May 1, 1872, I find RICHARD M. TWEED, printer, No. 85 Centre-street, (New-York Printing Company,) and hotel No. 582 Broadway, &c., (Metropolitan Hotel.) Now, No. 85 Centre-street is the New-York Printing Company, and perhaps Mr. WM. M. TWEED has assigned his interest in said Company to his son, and so has made his affidavit in the injunction case that he had not any interest for some eighteen months or so—but it is still in the family.

The Demand of the Times.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The fact that the demand of the times has gradually and surely become the demand for the NEW-YORK TIMES was most significantly exemplified on the New-York and Philadelphia Railroad this morning. The express-train which leaves the latter city at 11 A. M. was then composed of eight passenger-cars, and on reaching Elizabeth, where the New-York morning papers were first brought through the train, persons in the fifth car were unable to obtain the TIMES, as the news-boys answer was, "All gone." "Straws show which way the wind blows."

The Brown Stone Accounted For.

A communication signed "Citizen" appeared in your issue of last Friday demanding a prompt reply. Now, Sir, as a citizen I would inform him, as in duty bound, that this brownstone recently dressed in Madison Park was not dressed for any purpose other than the adornment of one of the parks. If "Citizen" will take the pains to walk into Washington Park he will, perhaps, see for himself and answer his own query, which demands so prompt a reply.

PARIS, Sept. 25.—The journals today have reports of the discovery of a conspiracy in Paris for the restoration of NAPOLEON. It is stated that NAPOLEON'S Prefect of Police, PIETRI, was at the head of the conspiracy here, and that he was acting under the direct instructions of the Emperor. The Minister of Foreign Affairs has assured Herr VON ARNIM, the German Plenipotentiary, that the French Government will accord ample protection to the German residents of Lyons. The disarmament of the rebels in Algeria meets with obstacles. The tribes surrender all their bad arms, but keep the good ones. The French soldiers have burnt several more villages belonging to tribes which still hold out. Chevalier NIGRA, the Italian Ambassador, has returned to Paris. THE INDIANS.

The Campaign Against the Apaches—Gen. Crook's Opinion of the War.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Capt. HENRY'S command of the Third Cavalry, on a campaign through eastern Arizona, have destroyed many rancheros and killed a number of Apaches. At latest advices the troops were near the Great Tonto Basin. The Peace Commissioners stopped at Las Cruces, New-Mexico. Gov. SOFFORD and a company of 200 miners and Indian hunters had found rich gold placers in the Pinal country, and were still scouting after gold and Apaches. Gen. CROOK has instructed the commander of the expedition not to kill Apache women or children under any circumstances, even if they are escaping. He declares himself satisfied that the war would not be prolonged beyond six months to effect the complete subjugation of the savages, were it not that the Indians, who would otherwise be compelled to surrender, can now find refuge at their old nurseries on the reservations. The Coyote Apaches are actively assisting the troops in the war on the other Apache tribes, and it is reported that the White Mountain Apaches will also join the whites in the war.

The Crows Friendly to the Northern Pacific Survey.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a letter from JA. VIALL, Superintendent of the Indians for Montana, in which, under date of Sept. 15, he says:

"I also during the past week visted the Crow Agency. I found all the Indians in, and had a long talk with them. Among other matters we talked of the Northern Pacific Railroad. They offer no opposition to it, are perfectly willing it should be built, and, in fact, have volunteered to have a party of their chiefs and head men accompany the engineers and soldiers to act as scouts, and assist them in any way in their power against the Sioux. These Indians have been friendly, liberally located by the Government, and are very well satisfied with the manner in which their treaty stipulations have been carried out. They do all they can to merit the kind treatment of the Department, and have made extraordinary progress in civilization and improvement. In a very few years they can be pointed to as a glorious illustration of the humane policy of the Administration."

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 25.—Judge HAWLEY, of the Supreme Court, has caused to be issued from the Second Judicial District Court, a writ of prohibition against a Mormon Bishop, JOHN R. MURDOCK, Probate Judge of Beaver County, restraining him from taking or exercising either chancery or common law jurisdiction confining him to simple probate business. Disregarding the decision of the Supreme Court, BRIGHAM YOUNG has directed his Bishops, who are the probate Judges, to continue chancery and common jurisdiction. The argument of Judge HAWLEY in issuing this writ was most exhaustive and able. After its delivery, it is said, several Mormons in person thanked him. This is a highly important decision.

ITALY.

The Changes in the Ministry—The Troublesome Tiber—Convents of Rome—The Health of the Pope—A Visit to Gasperone—The American Squadron—A Protracted Summer.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FLORENCE, Saturday, Sept. 9, 1871.

The changes in the Ministry, for some time talked of, have been brought about by the substitution of Admiral RIBBOTY as Minister of Marine for Admiral ACTON, for some time incumbent of that office. Signor DE VINCENZI is Minister of Public Works, in place of Signor GADDA, who has accepted the appointment of Prefect of the Province of Rome. After considerable discussion, the determination has been arrived at by the municipal authority of the capital city to take notice of the anniversary of the entrance of the Italian troops into Rome. The festivities of the 20th of September will be sufficiently modest the first year, whatever they may be after the present. The programme as made out consists of but two or three items—the illumination of the town, music in the public places, and a parade of the National Guard.

THE TROUBLESOME TIBER.

Of all the nuisances at Rome which the new Government is called upon to abate, the cleaning out of the Tiber and regulating its course, so as to prevent its frequent filthy overflow, are labors which demand the first attention. No one is ignorant of the little utility of this classical river and the little wealth it brings to Rome, while everybody has heard of the wealth which is laid up in its bosom. Projects for cleaning out its bed are revived, and the principal stimulant to the enterprise is the hope of opening a treasure-house of long-lost objects of every kind of art. What has been found in the excavations of the past few years in the Roman Emporium gives great confidence that the labor of going a little deeper will be well repaid. No end of old authorities are cited to prove that great quantities of gold and silver as well as works of art have at different troublous periods been thrown into the river as into a rubbish hole to hide them from the cupidity of the successful invader. None of these have yet been fished out. In the list, figures the military chest of MASSCUTIO, thrown into the river after the defeat of the Milvian Bridge, and what is always taken account of, the golden candle-stick of seven branches, brought by TITUS from the conquest of Jerusalem, which is sculptured on his triumphal arch in the Forum; besides the golden vases and golden table of the law, brought away by the same conqueror. If present promise be kept, we may live to see beautiful objects which our ancestors for one or two thousand years have read of in their histories, or only heard talked about, while enough will be found, if a thorough search is made, to satisfy the love of gain of the share-holders in the Company to be formed, it cannot be doubted that there will be brought to light, also, enough to satisfy the spirit of inquiry of archæologists and students of ancient art. The embankment of the Tiber, or the use of such means as may be necessary to prevent an overflow is really the work that demands the first attention of the Government. Only by an expenditure of many millions, can Rome be made habitable, as is well discovered by those who are now trying to take possession. The confusion of "moving-day" promises to last for the next five years.

THE CONVENTS OF ROME.

The convents of Rome are passing by the half dozen from the control of the heads of orders to become the property of the Government. A list of nine, among the largest of these establishments, is added to those before taken possession of. It is with a painful surprise that the friends of the old system see these sanctuaries put to secular uses, and it is the strongest among all the proofs that the old system is broken up. That is what we are apt to believe, but it is not certain that it has received anything more than a shock, for new communities of monks and nuns are forming on a private foundation, and in large numbers they are every day beginning to reappear. The conventional life of Catholic countries finds in the genius of the Latin populations something so congenial that there is little danger that that life will die out. The single convent of the frati of Santissima Annunciata, which three or four years back was supposed to be broken up, has grown into three Communities of that order.

THE HEALTH OF THE POPE.

In letters from Rome the statement is constantly made that the Pope's health is so bad as to excite alarm in the Vatican. They are the same reports we have heard for the past dozen years. In the columns of newspapers that publish them are long accounts of audiences given by the Holy Father to groups of the faithful come from a distance; chiefs of associations and heads of orders, bringing gifts and making addresses, with long discourses of the Pope in reply.

A VISIT TO GASPERONE.

There are few who have not heard of the brigand GASPERONE, of that kind of heroes a name as familiar as that of Fra Diavolo, or some other character of the lyric drama. I visited GASPERONE at Civita Castellane as long ago as 1860, and then he had been shut up, he told me, five and thirty years in that citadel and the one at Civita Vecchia. The old man was then past three score and ten, the Scripture period of man's allotment. His beard was long and silver white, and his aspect was venerable and respectable. One of his companions of the road, a companion also of contemporary imprisonment, had prepared in manuscript a biography of his chief, with the number of murders with which their hands were stained, honestly put down. If my memory serves me, GASPERONE confessed to more than thirty. As the old sinner received the cigars offered him, and which he was permitted to take, he said, with a sad tone, I am an old man, and have been shut up long enough. My life of seventy years has been equally divided between liberty and imprisonment, and it is cruel not to let me, in my old age, walk out once more in the light of day. Ten years and more after that conversation the brigand has had his wish gratified. The new Government of Rome, in a fit of sentimental justice, has ordered the prison doors to be opened, and GASPERONE has walked about the streets of Rome, and has heard the populace shout "viva GASPERONE." Man is a creature of habit, and it is said that the old hermit is already tired of the world and wishes to go back to his cell. He has not seen, and cannot find, in the world one to whom he ever before spoke, and the last associate of his early years is dead. He is the contemporary of the Pope, and is old among the old men of Rome. The liberation of GASPARONE is put on the ground of technical justice. When he was taken, or when he gave himself up, certain promises were made touching the trial, which were never kept, and the old Government has been accused of violating its faith.

THE AMERICAN SQUADRON.

There are at the present moment seven American naval vessels lying together in the Gulf of Spezia. A few weeks back, as is already well known, the Guerriere ran upon an island somewhere on the Italian coast. We are told by an officer of the fleet that the island is so small that it is not indicated on the charts used by our navigators. The damage done to the vessel is sufficient to demand an outlay of not less than seventy-five thousand dollars, and, by the courtesy of the Italian Marine Department, the repairs are now going on in one of the docks of the naval station at La Spezia. The vessel was towed into port by a frigate of the Italian fleet, and complimentary letters exchanged by the commanding officers on the occasion have been printed in the newspapers. The naval Court-martial called together to investigate the cause of the disaster has been in session nearly ten days, and this reunion of officers is the reason for the presence at one time of so many vessels in a single port of the Mediterranean.

THE SEASON.

The long drawn Summer continues without a drop of water, and a heat which is burning everything up. Not long ago the grape crop was doing so well that it was confidently hoped that the critical moment was past when serious harm could fall upon it. Now, within a week, in this region, the prospect is that the harvest will in part be cut off. The price of wine has already advanced sufficiently to awaken the first sad complaint. A. T.

NOTES FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Unpaid School-Teachers.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Can you inform me whether the money to pay the teachers employed by the Board of Education has been so misapplied by the "Ring" that we are in the situation of Mother Hubbard's dog—"The cupboard was bare, and so the poor dog had none!" On the 15th inst.—our pay-day—we were informed there was nothing to pay our salaries for the past month, and no telling when there would be any money forthcoming. What are we going to do about it?—borrow from our friends or hire that very essential root of all evil from the banks? And how long shall we probably have to borrow or hire our justly due salaries?

Abuses in the Park Commission.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I see by the papers that Mr. HILTON has called for more money. Eight hundred thousand dollars may, perhaps, seem a trifle to the worthy trio who are now Hiltonizing our parks. But it is no trifle to the tax-payers. In the reforms to be instituted by our new Controller but little has been said about the waste, bad taste, extravagance, incompetence and corruption of Messrs. SWEENY, HILTON and TOM FIELDS. These three have squandered millions in improving (!) our parks. I hope the Committee of Seventy will insist on these men surrendering their positions to gentlemen more able and more honest.

Cruelty in Training Children.

The sensible and humane allusion in your paper of today, to the cruelty practiced upon little children trained to acrobatic or circus performances, to which public attention has been suddenly directed by the death from starvation and abuse of a child used in such entertainments, has induced me to address you this letter, in the hope that enough public interest may be excited on the subject to cause action for the correction of the evil.

In 1868 a bill, drawn by the writer, was introduced into the Legislature, and, owing to the earnest effort of the member who introduced it, passed the Assembly, entitled, "An Act to Prevent Cruelty to Children," which contained the following clause: "Any person who shall train or instruct any child under twelve years of age to perform any acrobatic or other act or feat by which life or limb may be endangered, for exhibition in any show, circus, or other public or private performance or entertainment, or who shall so train or instruct for such purpose any child or person over twelve years of age, except by the express desire and consent of the child or person so trained or instructed, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction, suffer imprisonment for not more than —— or less than ——, and shall pay a fine," &c., &c.

The bill also contains provisions for the protection of orphan or vagrant children adopted in public or private institutions.

The bill failed to pass the Senate, or even to be reported from the Committee to which it was referred, owing to the pressure of "more important" business. Humanity demands that some similar enactment be placed upon the Statute books.

The writer of this, from a long acquaintance with what is known as the show business, is qualified to speak of the diabolical cruelty with which children trained to that business are treated. A moment's reflection will show that nothing but absolute fear will induce a little child to stand on a man's head while he, standing on the back of a horse, rides round a circus ring—a fear greater than the fear of falling. It is only by continued beatings that the little victims can be made to attempt such acrobatic feats as are constantly performed by little children in public. Those witnessing such performances cannot help having noticed the furtive glances the little ones cast toward the wings should they chance to make a slip or fall. Behind the wings stands the master, cowhide in hand, perhaps, and well the child knows that a cruel beating awaits it should it fail to please him. These children are often orphans, or little waifs, with no one to witness their sufferings except those who profit by them. Even those children who appear in dramatic representations do not always escape cruelty in the training, although this is, perhaps, not the rule. The famous MARSH children, who some years ago delighted thousands by their dramatic entertainments, were in constant fear of the raw hide held over them, as the writer himself has witnessed at rehearsals, where a slip or failure to remember the exact word of a part was visited with a cut of the whip. All will remember little Japanese "All Right" disabled for life by a fall, and many will recall the look of fear that the child sometimes wore, disguised as it was by an attempt to smile; the same thing may be observed in all children so exhibited. Surely, if we can have so much done to prevent cruelty to animals, something may be done to prevent cruelty and inhumanity to children.

Value of Real Estate in City.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In these times of doubt as to the ability of the City to meet any amount of her bonds now issued, it seems to me not inappropriate to make some estimate of the value of its real estate.

Having had some experience in the values of real estate, as well in gross as in detail, the most satisfactory results have always been achieved by classifying and valuing classes, and then aggregating results. Thus in estimating the value of a farm, a township or a county, the number of acres in the area being given, the first step was to ascertain what was considered the most valuable land—i. e., its first-class—reference being had to location and condition. The initial points of quantity and quality being established, the classification is not difficult. I have acted upon that plan in producing the table below. There is authority for assuming the total number of improved lots on the island at ninety thousand, and such is the basis of my estimate. I also assume an improved lot to be worth the capital sum which will produce a rental of ten per cent. annually. I also assume there are as many above the same set, or the value of the class, as will make the average.

A table showing the classification of the improved real estate, of average value of lots in each class, and average rent and aggregate value of lots in the class:

1	9,000	$50,000	$5,000	$450,000,000
2	9,000	45,000	4,500	405,000,000
3	9,000	40,000	4,000	360,000,000
4	9,000	35,000	3,500	315,000,000
5	9,000	30,000	3,000	270,000,000
6	9,000	25,000	2,500	225,000,000
7	9,000	20,000	2,000	180,000,000
8	9,000	15,000	1,500	135,000,000
9	9,000	10,000	1,000	90,000,000
10	9,000	5,000	500	45,000,000
Totals	90,000	$27,500	$2,750	$2,475,000,000

In arriving at the ability of a people for taxation, I make no mention of personal property, for the condition of the real estate in both City and country is the true criterion for judging their resources. A prosperous and thrifty people are always making permanent improvements upon their realty in buildings and in facilitating the means of locomotion.

The Sale of Poison by Druggists.

The account of the death of Mrs. WATERBURY from the hydrate of chloral, published in this morning's TIMES, impels me to the fulfillment of an intention I have long had, of calling attention to the habitual violation of the law on the part of druggists in selling poison without a physician's prescription being given for it. There is a law to the effect, I believe, that no poisonous drugs shall be sold without such prescriptions, and yet instances come constantly to my knowledge where people supply themselves at druggists', without any difficulty, with chloroform, landanum, corrosive sublimate for vermin, arsenic for rats, &c. The account of the sad death of Mrs. WATERBURY states that she "sent a servant for a quantity of the mixture, and drank about two or three ounces of it, which contained two or three drachms of the hydrate of chloral." It is possible that she may have sent a vial labeled and numbered which had previously been filled with the poison by a physician's prescription. This is not stated, but in that case the druggist would be exonerated. A law should be passed prohibiting the repetition of physicians' prescriptions for poisonous medicines without their being renewed. That is, at present, if I have occasion to write a prescription for ten grains of opium, for a present emergency, the patient may take the box in which the druggist put it up, and which is labeled and numbered, a month afterward and get the same quantity again, and do the same thing every day.

There is no other country in the world where druggists can do such things. In Basle, Switzerland, it was impossible for me to obtain even an ounce of camphor of a druggist without a prescription, though I represented that I myself was a "medical man." Yet here, I regret to say that so far as I know there is no difficulty in obtaining poisons, in violation of the law, and abortion pills and medicines, and in many cases of druggists who hold reputable positions.

A PHYSICIAN OF FOURTEEN YEARS' PRACTICE.

NEW-YORK, Friday, Sept. 22, 1871.

THE RIOT IN NEW-MEXICO.

Some Particulars of the Bloody Encounter Between Republicans and Democrats in Los Cruces, New-Mexico—The Killed and the Wounded.

From the Borderer, a Democratic paper published in the town of Los Cruces, New-Mexico, and dated Aug. 30, we get some details of the terrible fight between Republicans and Democrats, in which several persons lost their lives, on Sunday, Aug. 27. We quote the following:

A proposition was sent from Mr. GALLEGOS by his friends to the Republicans for a joint discussion of the political issues before the people, but excluding from the debate all personalities of every kind. The Republican speakers claimed the right to discuss not only the political history of the different candidates, but their private and social life. Believing that such a course would lead to trouble in the meeting, the committee of gentlemen, composed of both parties, decided to hold separate meetings. While this committee was in conference, both parties had paraded the streets and plaza with nothing to disturb the peace except a slight quarrel between two or three men, that was immediately quieted. A line of demarcation was agreed upon, which both parties were to respect. The Democrats were to hold their meeting at the plaza, the Republicans in front of the house of JOHN LEMON, Republican candidate for Probate Judge. We have not heard that any disturbance of any kind occurred at the Republican meeting.

The Democratic meeting, where a large procession of ladies were in attendance, was addressed by Hon. JOSE M. GALLEGOS, Capt. SENA Y BACA, and W. T. JONES, of Mesilla. All passed off pleasantly, with the exception of a slight interruption from Mr. ORRANTIA, one of the Republican speakers. After the speaking the procession was formed, and escorted the candidate to the house of THOMAS J. BULL, and the ladies to the residence of Señor BARELA, Democratic candidate for Sheriff, where refreshments were in waiting for them. After the Republican speakers were through with their meeting, they formed in line and proceeded through the streets, and over into a portion of the town called California, thence back into the plaza.

The Democrats in the meantime had formed again and were parading, when, at 3½ o'clock P. M., the processions met in the plaza. About the time the processions were opposite each other, a pistol was fired from the Republican ranks, either at some party, as a signal, or by accident. We have been told by those who saw it that the hand that discharged the pistol was raised in the air and the pistol pointed upward. We see no good in giving the name of the party who discharged the pistol, so withhold it for the present. Immediately an indiscriminate firing commenced. The crowd commenced to disperse, some to get away, others to provide themselves with arms.

A number of men were stationed upon the roof of the Post-office, on the east side of the plaza, and kept up the fire long after the heat of battle had ceased upon the plaza. The fire was returned from the house of MARIANO BARELA, on the west side of the plaza.

As night came on men were stationed along corners and fences leading out of town, and fired upon those who appeared. As we have said, the firing had ceased when the troops reached the plaza. The soldiers were stationed near the Acequia, and, except the occasional passage of a few over the plaza or through the streets, no one would have supposed the military to be present. On Monday the most of the troops returned to Selden, leaving twenty men at Mesilla and fifteen at Cruces, under the command of Capt. WM. KELLY; the squad at Cruces under the order of Lieut. GOODWIN. These officers hold themselves ready under orders of the civil authorities to preserve peace, and to the extent of their utmost ability we are confident they will perform that duty. We give a list of the killed and wounded so far as we have been able to learn:

Dead—I. N. Kelly, John Lemon, Sotello Lopez, Francisco Rodrigues, Felicitto Lueras, Fabian Cortes.

Wounded—Don Pedro Garcia, Hilario Moreno, Jose Ma. Padillo, Cesario Flores, Oraquia Luna, Juan de Dies Sais, Jesus Calles, Dr. Black, Manuel Nevarres, Simon Gallegos, Jesus Barela, Jose Quisado, Isadario Apodaca, Leandro Miranda, Mateo Madrid, Francisco Lopez, Jesus Lopez, Filar Candelario.

There are said to be thirteen more wounded, whose names we have not record of. Don PEDRO GARCIA was known to be unarmed, and was forcing MARIANO BARELA into his house, when he was shot in the back, and lies in a most critical state. An idiotic boy, living with BARELA, was killed at his side. It is said that many of those wounded were not engaged in the fight. BARELA's house is riddled with balls, one passing into the parlor among the ladies, but doing no damage. Balls passed through into the store of REYNOLDS & GRIGGS, and lodged among the goods upon the shelves. DANIEL FRITZE had four balls pass through his clothes. Don MANUEL NEVERRES, Justice of the Peace, was calling upon the people to disperse when he received two balls through his foot.

ROSENZWEIG'S SERVANT.

Reports Concerning a Portion of the Former Life of Jane Johnson—She is Said to Have Lived for a Time in Indiana.

It will be remembered that the woman known as JANE JOHNSON, who appeared to be acting in the capacity of a servant in the house of ROSENZWEIG at the time of ALICE BOWLSBY's death, subsequently said that she came there from the West, but refused to divulge the exact locality of her previous home. Letters from Richmond, Ind., were found in ROSENZWEIG'S house at the same time, and the Richmond Telegram gives the following as an explanation of the mystery, the letters relating to a Mrs. JAY, who (if the Telegram is correct) is the woman known here as JANE JOHNSON:

This JEAN JAY, alias Jane Johnson, came here from New-York some four years ago and was employed as housekeeper in the family of J. H. WASHBURN, Esq. A man named HUBBARD interceded for her, having stated to Mr. WASHBURN she was a widow woman with a child to support, that her situation in New-York was a hard one, and that she would like to come West. Needing a woman to do housework, and having confidence in the statement of HUBBARD, Mr. WASHBURN sent for the woman. She came and was provided with a comfortable situation in Mr. WASHBURN'S house. She was treated like a member of the family, and was taken into good society. During her entire stay of several years her conduct was apparently unexceptionable, and she retained the friendship and respect, of not only Mr. WASHBURN and his wife, but also of a large circle of acquaintances. Last Spring she started East on the very plausible excuse that she was going to visit friends. She left her child, a bright little boy, at Mr. WASHBURN'S. Some time after she had gone she wrote back from New-York that she was robbed on her way, and was compelled to stop in New-York and seek employment. Subsequently Mr. WASHBURN, while East, called to see her, and found her at Dr. ROSENZWEIG'S. Seeing, and hearing from her, that it was not a very respectable place, he asked her why she remained there. She answered that she was getting good pay—$30 per month—and would remain till she raised some funds. (It will be remembered that before the Coroner's Court she testified she was only getting $10 per month.) Mrs. WASHBURN, meanwhile, wrote her several sympathizing letters, and these were the ones found in ROSENZWEIG'S house. But the whole story of JEAN JAY'S visit east is now unraveled. She was evidently criminally intimate with some man during her stay in this city, and went to New-York to get rid of the evidence of her shame. Her failure to keep the matter a secret is but another proof of the old adage, "murder will out."

Will of the Late Aristarchus Champion.

The Rochester Express publishes the subjoined copy of the will of the late ARISTARCHUS CHAMPION, and says it learns from authentic sources that his entire property will not exceed in value $800,000, and that Gen. DEMING, who will contest the will, has retained Hon. HENRY R. SELDON to protect his interests:

Realizing the uncertainty of life, I make this my last will and testament:

First—I devise and bequeath to the American Bible Society, by whatever corporate name known or designated, (not being under the control or direction of the Baptist denomination,) one-half part of all my real and personal estate of every description.

Second—I devise and bequeath to the Presbyterian Society for Foreign Missions, by which designation I mean the Society or Association connected with or under the supervision or control of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States, whatever may be its corporate or associate name, the other half part of all my real and personal estate, with the exception of so much of my personal estate as may be necessary to pay and discharge the legacy hereinafter mentioned.

Third—I give and bequeath one thousand dollars to Mrs. SUSAN EDWARDS.

I hereby constitute and appoint ADDISON GARDINER, of the town of Gates, executor of this my will.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto affixed my hand and seal, in the presence of the witnesses, whose names are hereto subscribed, as my last will and testament declared to be such to such witnesses, and the said witnesses subscribed their names in the presence of such testator.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

Fleetwood Park—Trotting Match Yesterday—Charley Green Beaten by Mary in Three Heats—Time, 2:28½, 2:29, 2:28.

Yesterday, about 1,000 people were present at Fleetwood Park, to witness a trot for $1,000 between JOHN MURPHY'S b. g. Charley Green and S. MCLAUGHLIN'S b. m. Mary. The match was made last Monday, and grew out of the first heat for the 2:28 purse at the late meeting, in which Charley Green beat Mary by three-quarters of a length after a very exciting contest. The backers of Mary alleged that Charley Green ran a great deal in the heat, and offered to make a match against him. This was at once accepted by Charley Green's owner. It came off yesterday. There was but little betting on the race, but in the few pools that were sold Mary was a slight favorite. The first heat was a very exciting one, Charley Green leading for two-thirds of the distance, when Mary caught him, and in a fine finish home beat him by a head. Time—2:28½. In the second heat the horse again led, but Mary stuck to him gamely, and, as before, just managed to beat him home. Time—2:29. Considerable difficulty was experienced in starting the horses for the third heat, owing to the bad behavior of Charley Green, who invariably broke as they came up to the score. When they did go he showed in front at once, and, trotting finely, was half a length ahead at the half-mile pole. There Mary closed up, and they trotted abreast to the homestretch where Mary began to draw away, and aided by a break on Charley Green's part, won very easily by four lengths, in 2:28. The time of this heat was a great surprise, even to the owner of the mare, who did not expect to see her trot so well. Indeed, if she had been pushed, she might have trotted inside 2:27. Below is a summary:

FLEETWOOD PARK, Sept. 25.—Match for $1,000, mile heats, three in five, to harness:

Tenth Annual Regatta of the Empire City Rowing Club.

The tenth annual regatta of the Empire City Rowing Club was held yesterday from One Hundred and Fourteenth-street, Harlem River.

The races consisted of a four-mile race, making three turns, in seventeen-foot working boats, the contestants not to weigh over 130 pounds. For this there were six entries. The race was well contested, and resulted, after a hard struggle, in favor of THOMAS RILLEY.

The second race was for nineteen-feet working-boats, same distance and course. There were five entries. The race resulted in an easy victory for SHEAN and GLENNEY, but a protest was entered by KISSAM and FORD, on the ground that their boat was above the stipulated length.

The third race was for ladies only, in seventeen-foot able working boats. There were five entries. Miss SHEAN came in first, and was declared the winner.

The fourth race was for seventeen-foot working boats, open to all; the course, four miles, as before. There were five entries, but only four started. The race was a walk-over for BIGLIN, who won easily by about five lenghts.

The fifth and last race was for ladies only, rowing two pairs of sculls, in seventeen-foot working boats, the same course as in their other race. The race was closely contested. Miss HARRIS and Miss CUSTARCE won by about three lengths.

The Cannstadt Volks Fest—Festivities at Jones' Wood.

The annual Cannstadt Volks Festival was yesterday inaugurated under favorable circumstances. The weather being fine, immense crowds of visitors were in attendance at Jones' Wood to witness and participate in the festivities of the jolly Suavians. Considerable amusement was created during the afternoon by a burlesque procession of characters, representing scenes of Savian peasant life, and the plays and evolutions of the juvenile portion, attracted the exclusive attention of a large portion of the numerous visitors. It is estimated that at least ten thousand persons visited the grounds during the day. The programme today includes a series of social games, comic performances, &c.

The Sailors' Sunday Fight—A Probable Murder.

Burned to Death.

Yesterday morning the Police authorities of Brooklyn were informed that JOHN HEALEY, an old man residing in a room at No. 136 Eighteenth-street, was burned to death, on Sunday afternoon, while sitting at his own fireside, his clothes having become ignited by the fire while he was applying turpentine to his limbs to relieve rheumatism.

Methodist Preachers' Association—Lecture on Darwinism—Something About the Kuklux.

At the meeting of the Methodist Preachers' Association, held yesterday at the Board Room of the Book Concern, Rev. Dr. FOSTER read the first portion of a lecture, one of a series of three, on "Darwinism." He argued in opposition to HUXLEY's theory that "the vegetable kingdom is the sole origin of animal life." The Doctor showed that vegetable life is not spontaneous, but derived from other inorganic substances, such as oxygen and hydrogen.

Rev. L. H. KING addressed the meeting and asked its aid for Rev. Mr. LAKIN, a Northern clergyman, who was compelled to fly from Alabama because he had testified before the Congressional Committee against the Kuklux of that State. Mr. LAKIN had been twice fired at by the Kuklux before he left Alabama. At the conclusion of his address Dr. KING went round through the audience and took up a collection. It amounted to $61 80.

Rev. Dr. DE HAAS stated to the meeting that he had been put to a great deal of inconvenience by the calls at all hours in the day of a great many ministers who wished to examine an ancient copy of the Scriptures, written on parchment, that he had been fortunate enough to discover near Jerusalem during his recent travels. To get rid of his many visitors, Dr. DE HAAS proposes to exhibit the manuscript in the rooms of the Methodist Mission, after the close of the preachers' meeting on Monday morning next. The manuscript contains five books of Moses complete, and was assigned a very ancient origin by Dr. BEAL, of the British Museum, and Dr. WRIGHT, of the Cambridge University, when submitted to them for examination.

Honorable Discharge of William A. Burtis, President of the Empire City Fire Insurance Company—The Charge of Altering Bonds Discredited.

In the matter of WM. A. BURTIS, President of the Empire City Fire Insurance Company, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of altering a United States bond of the denomination of $10,000, a further hearing was set down for yesterday, before United States Commissioner WHITE. Assistant District-Attorney PURDY, in moving for the discharge of Mr. BURTIS, said:

"After a most careful and explicit examination of all the facts of the case, and of all the evidence that could possibly be brought against him, I feel it my duty to move his discharge on the ground that he has not only not committed any offense against the United States, but I feel that he has not committed even an offense against financial honesty or good morals. It would be a source of great regret to me that any action taken by the Government, for which I am responsible, should result in any manner to affect the good name of Mr. BURTIS, and I therefore take the first opportunity in public of saying that nothing has been shown in this case to shake public confidence in him, or to impair his financial or commercial reputation. I move that the complaint against him be dismissed, and I consent that an exoneration be entered on the bail bond."

Commissioner WHITE granted the motion, and, in doing so, said it was gratifying to a Magistrate to acquit a gentleman who was arrested by mistake, and he felt great pleasure in honorably discharging him.

MONDAY, Sept. 25—P. M.

There was not a pressing demand for Money from the Brokers today. The sales were 6@7 ₽ cent. The Treasury bought $3,000,000 of United States 5-20s at noon out of $5,812,900 offered, and was prepared to pay for the Bonds at once, but no part of the purchase was delivered today. We mention the fact as incidental to a less urgent inquiry for Money than on Friday, and early on Saturday last. Some of the leading houses had balances left with them as low as 5 ₽ cent., but this rate is exceptional.

The sales of Gold were less firm than on Saturday, owing to a favorable turn in the London Money market, and an increased offering of Exchange, for which the leading drawers were ready to accept 108¼@108½ ₽ cent. This being a decline of ¼ ₽ cent. from Saturday, and the Cash Gold being easy, operated against the Gold Room. The sales closed 114¼ ₽ cent.

The Public Funds advanced here on the demand shown late on Saturday to buy 5-20s and 10-40s for Europe, and on the purchases by the Treasury today. The Cable also reported favorable figures from London. The rise here is ⅛@¼ ₽ cent. The Pacific First Mortgages are ⅛@¼ ₽ cent. better on the Centrals and steady for the Unions. There was not much done in the Southern State Bonds. Tennessees were better by ⅛@¼ ₽ cent. The Railway Shares, after opening with a pretty firm feeling in the market, unexpectedly yielded after 1 o'clock, and later in the day showed much weakness. There was no apparent cause for the change beyond the distrust of last week in the course of the Money market, and this should have been partially qualified by the fair supply of Money on the Street today. There is reason to hope that the Bank movement will soon be brought into a more comfortable and stronger condition, but it may be the apprehension of pressure upon borrowers on Stock collateral during the necessary contraction that affects the market. The Miscellaneous Stocks were well supported on Western Telegraph and Pacific Mail. At the close of the day there was more weakness shown on New-York Central Stock and Scrip than for several days past.

After the late Board the following quotations were made as compared with Saturday night. The Railways left off weak in prices, and with an inclination to press sales at the decline. Telegraph and Pacific Mail were weaker than in the forenoon:

The Banks in italic are all under the 25 ₽ cent. line. The Local Banks are under line, in the aggregate, $2,087,410. The National Banks are in excess, in the aggregate, $3,245,660, but some of the largest of the number running very close to rule.

Earnings of Missouri Pacific Road for week ending 14th, $84,201. Corresponding week 1870, $78,979. Increase, $5,222. From March 1, 1871, $1,948,548. Corresponding year 1870, $1,900,065. Increase, $48,483.

The Coupons of the Indianapolis, Bloomington and Western Railway Bonds due Oct. 1, 1871, will be paid by Messrs. TURNER BROTHERS, No. 14 Nassau-street, on and after that date.

The Treasurer of the State of Virginia, in response to an inquiry from Messrs. BAKER & Co., of Winchester, Va., says the amount of the funded debt of the State, by January, 1872, and on which the State will have to pay interest, will not exceed $30,000,000, and adds:

"The interest on this—I mean two-thirds of it, which is what the Funding bill provides for paying—will be $1,200,000. Of this, one-half, say $600,000, will be payable 1st January, 1872, and the other half, $600,000, will be payable 1st July, 1872. We cannot tell what sums will be derived from taxes this year, because the returns are not yet in. But the Auditor reports that, after paying all the expenses of the Government for the current year, there will be on hand (Jan. 1, 1872,) a balance of $1,500,000, derived from the taxes of 1870 and 1871. And this amount does not include certain large sums which it is expected will be derived from taxes on railroads and other corporation properties, nor the interest to be paid by the depositaries for the use of the State's money, nor other such items. The amount in the Treasury this morning is $947,470 40, on which the State is receiving interest from depositaries (Richmond banks) at the rate of four per cent. per annum—except $100,000."

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ FIRST MORTGAGE SINKING FUND LAND-GRANT BONDS OF THE ST. JOSEPH AND DENVER CITY RAILROAD COMPANY, IN DENOMINATIONS OF $1,000, $500, AND $100, can now be had from the undersigned or through the principal banks and bankers of the United States. The attention of investors is invited to the merits of these bonds, secured by a first and only mortgage on the road, equipments, franchises, and property of a trunk line of railroad which will shorten the distance between New-York and San Francisco some 220 miles, and in addition the mortgage to secure the bonds covers a land-grant of 1,500,000 acres of the most fertile land in the West, which is prohibited from being sold at less than four ($4) dollars per acre by the terms of the mortgage deed, and according to the present market price of the Illinois Central Company's lands is worth $18,750,000. This loan was originally for $5,500,000, but has been largely reduced by subscriptions of actual investors. The remaining balance of the loan is offered at 97½ and accrued interest, but the right is reserved to advance the price at any time, without notice.

The bonds have thirty years to run; bear 8 per cent. interest, payable in New-York, London or Frankfort-on-the-Main, at the option of the holder, without notice, free of taxes, BOTH PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST ARE PAYABLE IN GOLD. They are Coupon Bonds, but can be registered with the coupons ON, or can be registered with the coupons OFF, and interest paid to registered owner. Interest payable Aug. 15 and Feb. 15. A liberal sinking fund, formed from the entire land sales, in payment for which the bonds will be received at par and accrued interest, provides for the early extinguishment of this loan.

Trustees—Farmers' Loan and Trust Company.

These bonds offer favorable inducements to parties desiring to fund their Five-Twenties or other high-priced securities.

In converting Five-Twenties the investors realize 17 per cent. profit on the principal; 2 per cent. per annum excess of interest; and at the same time get a perfect security.

Maps, circulars, documents, and full information furnished on application.

Though acting as agents for the sale of this loan, our firm buy and sell in their regular business the bonds of the St. Joseph and Denver City Railroad Company, those of the Eastern Division being now quoted at 102 and accrued interest. These were originally placed by us at 97½.

TANNER & CO., Bankers, No. 11 Wall-st.

CONVERSION OF 5-20 BONDS.

AN IMMEDIATE PROFIT OF FOURTEEN PER CENT. AND AN ANNUAL INCREASE OF INCOME OF THIRTY-EIGHT PER CENT. WILL BE SECURED TO HOLDERS OF 5-20s BY CONVERTING THEM AT ONCE INTO 7-30 Land Grant Gold Bonds OF THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD.

JAY COOKE & CO.

☞ FIVE-TWENTIES CAN BE FUNDED with us into the best Railroad Bonds. We recommend those of the RONDOUT AND OSWEGO COMPANY for three reasons: 1. These Bonds are safe. The road is near this City. Every investor can travel over it for himself. The net earnings of one-half of the line pay at present 10 per cent. on all the bonds which will be issued on the whole road. 2. By conversion, as we recommend, the investor adds 25 per cent. to his capital. 3. He also adds 43 1-3 per cent. to his income.

EDWARD HAIGHT & CO., No. 9 Wall-st.

☞ THE WEST WISCONSIN RAILWAY is now very nearly finished, and trains will be running through from Tomah to St. Paul by Nov. 1. The earnings of the Road from local traffic on the completed portion constitute already a profitable business; and arrangements and connections are about perfected which will make it the Great Air-Line Route from Chicago to the North-west, offering a very large through business. The Road has a First Mortgage on a valuable Land Grant of 1,000,000 acres. They bear interest in gold at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, and are now sold at 90 and accrued interest in currency by WHITE, MORRIS & CO., No. 18 Wall-st., and GWYNNE, JOHNSON & DAY, No. 18 Wall-st., where pamphlets and further information may be obtained.

☞ LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD CONSOLIDATED SEVEN PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS for sale at ninety-two and one-half and accrued interest.

JOHN J. CISCO & SON, No. 59 Wall-st.

☞ JACKSON COUNTY, MISSOURI, 8 PER CENT. BONDS, For sale by W. P. CONVERSE & CO., No. 54 Pine-st.

☞ BURLINGTON, CEDAR RAPIDS AND Minnesota Seven per Cent. Gold Sinking Fund Bonds for sale at 90 and interest by HENRY CLEWS & CO., No. 32 Wall-st., New-York.

DEATH IN A DENTIST'S OFFICE.

A Young Lady Killed by the Administration of Chloroform.

JULIA DOOLITTLE, an unmarried lady about twenty-eight years of age, who has hitherto boarded in the family of Mrs. WRIGHT, at the corner of Portland and Myrtle avenues, Brooklyn, went yesterday morning to the dentistry of Dr. R. C. BREWSTER, at No. 289 Fulton-street, for the purpose of having her teeth taken out and replaced by an artificial set. She had been there on Saturday, and the doctor had administered laughing gas, but it failed to affect her, and, being afraid to have the teeth removed while in a state of consciousness, she desired him to administer chloroform. This he refused to do, but said if she would find a physician to administer the anæsthetic he would extract the teeth. With this understanding she departed, and returned to Dr. BREWSTER'S office yesterday morning accompanied by Dr. LITTLE, who administered the chloroform, and Dr. BREWSTER commenced his work. He had not, however, taken out more than half a dozen of the teeth when it was discovered that the patient was rapidly sinking. The operation was at once stopped, restoratives were promptly applied, further medical aid was at once called in, and all that skill could suggest was done to bring the young lady back to consciousness; but the efforts were in vain, and she was dead in ten minutes after the restoratives were applied.

News of the sad affair was at once sent to Coroner JONES, who took possession of the body and placed it in condition for an inquest, which he intends holding today.

The White Star Line—A Most Successful Enterprise—Fast and Magnificent Vessels.

The Oceanic, the first vessel of the White Star line, from its vast proportions, superb fittings and fast-sailing properties, attracted at the time very favorable notice from the public, and many looked forward to see whether the vessels which were to follow would come up to the promised standard. It was a well-known trick to run a line on the reputation of one or more fine boats, and at one time many expected to find that the "White Star" meant to attract attention in the same manner. However, the Atlantic came out and was at once recognized as the duplicate of the Oceanic, and now comes the Baltic, which is decidedly considered to be superior to her two predecessors. The managers of the line are "new" at the business, and naturally must make a few mistakes at starting, but they evince every willingness to learn by experience, and the increased saloon accommodation of the Baltic gives evidence of this. The smaller state-rooms have been almost entirely swept away and larger ones substituted, and some extra state-rooms have been added immediately forward of the main saloon, which is even more elegant and luxurious than that of either the Oceanic or Atlantic. The steerage arrangements are the same as in the other vessels, and are excellent. The engines have not been worked at full power yet, but it is confidently expected that she will steam fifteen knots. Should this prove the case, she will certainly be a faster as well as a more perfectly arranged ship than either of her predecessors. The Adriatic will be a duplicate of the Baltic, and the Republic and the Antarctic (the two big sisters) are intended to be superior to all the rest. Well, so far the White Star line is all and more than all the public expected, and if they only give us nothing more than their noble pioneers, the traveling public will not be ungrateful. The Baltic made the run here from Queenstown in eight days and eighteen hours.

A Supposed Suicide.

HARRIET COLEMAN, forty-five years of age and of respectable appearance, was found sick in the street on Saturday and taken to the Park Hospital, where she died soon after her admission. It was ascertained that she was a resident of Westwood, N. J., but no other facts concerning her were learned. Upon making a post-mortem examination it was found that she had died from poison, and it was supposed that she had committed suicide. There was an old scar upon the throat which seemed to indicate that she had previously tried to end her life in another way. The body was removed to the Morgue to await an inquest.

The Hunt Divorce Case.

The divorce suit of SARAH B. HUNT against WILLIAM H. HUNT, in which an injunction was granted on the 12th of July, 1871, restraining the defendant from selling a country residence owned by him in Columbia County, until the final determination of the suit between the parties, was yesterday up before Judge BARNARD, in Supreme Court, Chambers, on a motion to dissolve the injunction. In 1870 defendant commenced a suit in New-Orleans, and under the sanction of a law passed by the Legislature a final decree was obtained divorcing the parties absolutely. The plaintiff claims that the attorney who appeared for him in New-Orleans was not authorized to do so; that he was acting in collusion with the defendant, and that she believes the decree of divorce was invalid. On the part of Mr. HUNT, who is a prominent lawyer in the City of New-Orleans, affidavits were read denying the charges made by the plaintiff from beginning to end, and charging that the original separation between the parties was of the plaintiff's own seeking and not of defendant's. Judge BARNARD took the papers and reserved his decision.

The milling inquiry was on a restricted scale, and mostly for job lots. The general market closed tamely, influenced, in part, by the firmer range of ocean freights. Sales have been reported since our last of 354,000 bushels, all told, afloat and to arrive, including White Western at $1 64@$1 73, chiefly at $1 70@$1 72, in part to arrive; Red and Amber Western at $1 52@$1 63, chiefly at $1 52½@$1 58 for ordinary to very good New Red; $1 60@$1 63 for New Amber do.; $1 68 for fancy Amber do.; No. 1 Spring at $1 51 reported bid, and $1 53@$1 55 asked; No. 2 Spring at $1 47@$1 51 for straight to very choice samples here; $1 48@$1 50 for do. to arrive; White Genesee, $1 65@$1 72; Red and Amber, $1 55@$1 62½, chiefly Amber at $1 62; Amber Southern, on private terms, ⅌ bushel. ....Mixed Western Corn has been in brisk demand, largely on speculative account, offering a shade cheaper under quite liberal offerings, but closed with more steadiness and with less eagerness on the part of the principal holders to realize. FREIGHTS—Ship-owners have been quite confident in their views, and have been claiming rather higher rates for berth room, particularly for Grain; but the demand has been on a restricted scale, checked, in part, by renewed firmness noted in the general market. There has been a moderate call for Cotton and Provision room at the ruling figures. Tobacco room has been in less request. Some inquiry has been noted for Naval Store room, but the bids have been unsatisfactory in most instances. The chartering business has been devoid of life. The main call has been for vessels for the Grain trade, at about previous quotations; and for the Petroleum trade, at equal to the current market rates. The New-York Times,

DAILY, WEEKLY AND SEMI-WEEKLY.

This journal is now thoroughly identified with the greatest political necessity of the hour—uncompromising warfare against all forms of corruption, whether in national or local government. For years past the TIMES has been exposing the demoralizing schemes of self-interested politicians, and its recent warfare upon the Tammany Democrats has been received with universal approval. It has adhered to the pledge given in its original prospectus, more than twenty years ago, that the public should be truly represented, and their interests faithfully guarded through its columns. Its record has been pure and honorable, and the highest aim of its proprietors is to render it more and more worthy of its past history, and of the confidence which the public repose in it. Two out of three of the original proprietors still direct its policy, and guide it on all public questions. They purpose that the TIMES shall continue to keep clear of all narrow and unworthy influences and cliques, and aim to represent the great body of the public as distinguished from personal factions. It occupies a perfectly independent position, and is free to speak the truth on all subjects and about all men. Its greatly increased circulation throughout the country adds to its power and influence. It will continue to be a faithful exponent of Republican principles, and advocate with untiring energy every cause which tends to further the welfare of the people.

The utmost care will be devoted to gathering political news from special sources during the Presidential canvass. This department of the paper will be unusually full and trustworthy. Renewed enterprise will be exhibited in every department of the paper, and large space will be devoted to reports of speeches made during elections, or on other important political occasions.

A very full summary of news, and many general articles of great interest, are published in the Semi-weekly editions; and in the Weekly edition there is an unabridged report of the proceedings at the Farmers' Club, an excellent summary of political information, and a great variety of matter suitable for family reading.

The NEW-YORK TIMES is pre-eminently a family paper, all objectionable advertisements being rigidly excluded; and it has a constantly increasing circulation among the most respectable classes of the community.

Clear Away the Wreck.

While waiting to hear of some decisive step against the present rulers of the City, the public need not be in any doubt with regard to the final result of the present contest. TWEED and his friends may put on an outward appearance of composure, but they know perfectly well that, in their own language, "the game is up." They are destroyed, but they may manage to cling for a short time longer to the semblance of power. While they are so clinging, they may contrive, in a revengeful spirit, to inflict some fresh injury upon the community which they have so grievously outraged and robbed. They are trying, for instance, to increase the expenses of the various Departments—having first made away with all the money intended to defray the charges of these Departments—so as to cause confusion, and create disorder out-of-doors. Thus, the Department of Parks—under the management of PETER B. SWEENY, the sober TOM FIELDS, and the exemplary HENRY HILTON—either spent, or is alleged to have spent, $113,000 in two weeks—although the total apportionment for that Department for the year was only $186,000. SWEENY, who has helped to make away with the public money, then pretends to raise the $113,000 out of his private funds, and makes his appearance before the laborers in the totally new character of a benefactor. This dodge, however, is too superficial to deceive anybody. Even if SWEENY actually paid $113,009 to the working men out of his own pocket, it would only be equal to the restitution of a very small part of public plunder. SWEENY, FIELDS and HILTON ought now to understand that if they go on spending money at the rate of $113,000 a fortnight, they must provide the ways and means themselves. Thirty millions have already been raised this year. What has become of it? None of it is left in the City Treasury. If the working men are kept out of their money, let them go to the responsible persons for it. Those persons are HALL, TWEED, and SWEENY—and what they have done with the public funds no one seems to know but themselves.

There would be no difficulty in raising plenty of money for the City Government if TWEED, SWEENY & CO. would take themselves out of the way. While they remain where they are, all the sources of supply are dried up. Everybody is unwilling to pay more money into the Treasury, only to see it carried off by thieves. Why should the public pour a fresh supply into the City coffers, merely that it may be transferred to the bank account of dishonest rulers? The laboring men of all the Departments have to thank TWEED, HALL and SWEENY—for CONNOLLY is now no obstacle to reform—for the inconveniences which they are likely to suffer. The credit of the City is in great danger—unless money is forthcoming, the revenue certificates will soon be protested; and no money will be forthcoming until it is quite certain that TWEED, SWEENY, and HALL will not be able to get at it. These three men are the sole cause of the agitation which now prevails. Does any one suppose that they can be allowed to remain where they are now, after all the revelations that have been made? They are not so infatuated as to believe it themselves. They know they must go out—only they will hang on as long as they can. Whether a criminal prosecution could reach them or not may be a matter of doubt. But even without that, the Tweed gang is all broken up. No power on earth can save it—of that much, we repeat, the public may be confidently assured. The great Democratic Party will have nothing further to do with this huge disgrace. TWEED and his cronies are well aware that they have now no support whatever in the State, and none in the City beyond their horde of repeaters—who can do absolutely nothing for them in such a crisis as this. If District-Attorney GARVIN were disposed to do his duty, he would at once take proceedings against them; failing that, Recorder HACKETT ought to be asked to bring the charges which incriminate them under the attention of the Grand Jury. But all this involves delay—and the dead-lock in the City Government is meanwhile very serious. Money must be had; and the public are tired of supplying money for TWEED and his friends to make ducks and drakes of. If you gave them thirty millions to-morrow, there would be nothing to show for it in the course of a few weeks but a long list of fraudulent warrants in favor of INGERSOLL, ANDREW J. GARVEY, KEYSER, and the eminent carpet man, J. A. SMITH.

The working men cannot be deluded any longer by TWEED and HALL, because they have read the fraudulent warrants, and have heard all about the stolen vouchers—"bring back those vouchers!" is now the "chaff" of the streets—and they see plainly enough that Tammany Hall is only another name for a den of thieves. Whose fault is it that the poor laborer cannot find a home for his wife and children, except at a rent which takes away nearly half his earnings? It is the fault of these Ring rascals, who have put on enormous taxes, and so raised the rental of every house in the City, and then deliberately and systematically applied the proceeds to their own purposes. Every work that is now carried on in the City is done at private expense. Is there a pavement to be laid down? You are specially assessed for it. Is there a road to be swept or watered? You must pay for it out of your own pocket. And so it is with everything. And yet twenty-five million dollars a year is raised from taxation. No one ever sees any result from that money except when TWEED builds himself a new house, or HALL dispatches another parcel of ready money to Europe, or SWEENY makes an additional investment in real estate. The working men receive no benefit from it. Even the laborers in the pay of TWEED & CO. only get the crumbs which fall from the table. There is not a single class left which has any interest in keeping these disgraced knaves in power. They must go—and if they knew what was good for them, they would go quietly now, and give honest men an opportunity to restore the credit and honor of the Government. This is the last chance they have. They are bound to fall, and no one can break their fall but themselves. The resignations of TWEED, HALL and SWEENY would mean the immediate restoration of the City credit, and nothing else can restore it—short of their being kicked out, which, if they wait long enough, they surely will be.

The Work for the Convention.

The first duty, in point of time and of importance, for the Republican State Convention which meets to-morrow, is to establish a Republican organization in this City which shall be without taint of Tammany influence. This will be immediately presented by the contesting New-York delegations. Beyond all other considerations in determining the claims of those delegations will be the simple question, which one would Tammany prefer to have admitted? That is the one to reject, promptly and completely. The settlement of the New-York contest is among the first duties of the Convention in importance also, because upon its accomplishment largely depends the success of the struggle against the Tammany Ring, which it is the supreme object of the Convention to provide for. It is impossible that the opponents of corruption and misgovernment shall command their full strength in the election, if the Republican organization in this City is directly or indirectly under the control of what are well known as Tammany Republicans. Therefore, if the Convention can devise any plan by which all the sincere enemies of Tammany, whatever their present associations, can combine in one recognized, energetic organization, and all the secret allies of Tammany be excluded, that will be its prime work.

Its next will be to declare the purpose which is entertained by the Republican Party of this State, with perfect unanimity and with profound earnestness, to give the people of this City the actual possession of its government. There is no other point on which the entire party is agreed with such hearty and serious accord. We have had many experiments in this City to save the people from the evils of misgovernment. We have now given the people a fair chance to save themselves. They can do it, they will do it, if the people of the State will give them the means. All that is needed is the immediate repeal of the present charter and the establishment of one that will enable the people to change their servants at brief intervals, and to change them all. On this point there is no room for doubt. The principle of a Municipal Executive, possessing comprehensive powers, and capable, if those powers are abused, of being promptly brought to account and compelled to relinquish them, is one that the people of New-York are now ready to test by experience. They demand of the Republican Party an opportunity to do so. The Convention cannot err in declaring explicitly in favor of that principle. In making this declaration, the Convention will also do well to urge on the party throughout the State to nominate for the Legislature only men of proved integrity, and to scrupulously avoid the advancement of men whose reputation is stained. There is not a district in the State in which the Republicans cannot command the services of men of conspicuous honesty—men whose names are recognized, the instant they are spoken, as absolutely untarnished. Let the Convention demand that from these and no others the Republican candidates shall be taken.

We do not forget that the Convention will be called on to present the views of the Republicans of the State on national affairs, and that its expressions will be treated with deep respect. Happily, there is no room for doubt as to what the Republicans of New-York, as of the nation, are substantially agreed on. They are resolved that the results of the war, embodied in the amendments to the National Constitution, shall be preserved by a just and sensible interpretation of those amendments. They have no faith in the wisdom of intrusting legislation under these amendments to the party whose deep-seated hostility is cloaked, not abandoned, by the death-bed repentance of the "new departure." They are satisfied with the integrity and efficiency of President GRANT's administration; they are proud of its record, including some of the brightest achievements of American statesmanship; and they do not hesitate to continue the confidence given to their President in 1868, and amply justified since. On the other hand the Republicans of New-York, as of the nation, are ready to go forward firmly and carefully with the reforms already recognized by the representatives of the party in Congress.

They are prepared for the completion of the general amnesty voted by the House of Representatives, and to come before the next session of the Senate, believing that the disabilities as yet unremoved by special act of Congress are too light to avail as punishment, and yet sufficient to interfere with the peaceful progress of the Southern States. They are not, on this account, any the less resolute that the infamy and gross evil of Kukluxism shall be put down by the prompt and relentless use of all necessary powers now lodged in the hands of the President.

The Republicans of New-York, like those of every State that has yet held its Conventions, believe in the urgent necessity of immediately carrying into effect the desire the President has expressed for a thorough reform of the civil service, and they will expect from the Convention an emphatic expression of this belief. They will also receive with satisfaction a recognition by the Convention of the wisdom of continuing that revision of the national Tax laws already commenced by a Republican Congress, having for its object the relief of the producers of the country from unnecessary burdens, and the prevention of injustice to any interest or industry, in the mistaken hope of protecting some other interest or industry, or of advancing general prosperity.

If the Convention perform, as we have no doubt it will, these obvious duties, with courage and fidelity, victory for the cause it meets to serve is assured.

Threatening to Bolt.

Notwithstanding the Tammany Republican General Committee unanimously passed a resolution to abide by the decision of the State Convention, some of its members are loud in their threats to "bolt," in case their delegation is not admitted to seats in the Convention. This was to be expected, and is in perfect accordance with the object for which the Tammany faction is kept in existence—viz., to create a split in the Republican ranks at the coming election in this City, and thereby play into the hands of their employers, the Tammany thieves. They made a similar promise to abide by the decision of the State Committee on the question of reorganization, but they found it convenient to break the promise as soon as they found the decision was against them. As an evidence that they had no intention of acquiescing in the decision of the State Convention, they have proceeded to hold their district conventions, and put candidates for Senators and Assemblymen in the field before the State Convention met, and consequently before they could know whether their organization would be recognized as legitimate. These candidates they intend to run, whatever may be the decision of the State Convention. They may, perhaps, acquiesce in the nominations put forth at Syracuse on the State ticket, simply because the nomination of an independent ticket by them would only develop the insignificance of the faction on election day; but in this City they dare not disobey their Tammany masters from whom they get their bread and butter, and they will be forced to keep stump candidates in the field in each Senatorial and Assembly district. We trust that the Convention will not be alarmed at their threats to "bolt," but will decide the question in the interest of the great bulk of honest Republicans in this City, and leave the Tammany Republican crowd to do their worst. The public will have a chance to see at the next election where their strength lies, and how much there is of it. Let the line be drawn between those who are Republicans from principle, and those who are Republicans by the grace of Tammany Hall. It has got to come to that in the end, and the sooner the sheep are separated from the goats the better. Mr. GREELEY told the Republicans at a caucus held in Saratoga a year ago that it was useless for the Republican Party to attempt to do anything in this City until it was rid of Tammany Republicans like "Hank" SMITH, who were betraying the party into the hands of the enemy. This is the feeling of all true Republicans in this City today; and notwithstanding Mr. GREELEY is now at the head of the organization which he denounced, and of which "Hank" SMITH is the controlling spirit, his words are as true now as they were then. There are not a dozen men in the organization that will present a contesting delegation at Syracuse, who are not bitter enemies of Gen. GRANT and his Administration; while the bulk of them are now, as they have been for years past, in the employ of Tammany Hall, and bound to do its bidding. The Republican State Convention cannot afford to recognize either class in the present crisis.

Republicanism on Trial.

Our readers will bear witness that we have from the beginning sought to make this contest with the Tammany Ring a non-partisan one. The issues seem to us far above any of a mere party. If such fellows as HALL, TWEED & CO. can continue to hold office and to make money and retain their ill-gotten gains, after such an exposure as has just been made, why then we say it makes no difference whether Republicans or Democrats are in power,—such a community is not fit for honest men to live in. If Republicanism can suffer such swindlers and corrupt demagogues to govern its richest City, and then, when they are thoroughly exposed and their crimes brought to the light of day, can suffer them still to rule and to flaunt their stolen wealth before the world, then in that City, at least, Republicanism has been a failure.

The question at issue is not at all one between "ins and outs," between Democrats and Republicans, betwen Grant men and anti-Grant men. We care nothing about such disputes in presence of the great crisis before us. It is simply and mainly a question as to self-government itself in a large city. It is a struggle between honesty and thievery. It is the trial before the world, of Republicanism in municipal government. That is, have our honest and virtuous citizens pluck and endurance and virtue enough to right the wrongs of their municipal affairs, or must they yield themselves servants and victims to an ignorant and brutal tyranny, which lays upon the people all the burdens of an oppressive Government with none of its advantages? We deliberately repeat, that if this community of New-York, having the proofs they possess of the audacious robberies and swindles perpetrated upon them by their present rulers, and having risen with such vigor and unanimity, do not now press this matter through, unseat these criminals from their places and pursue them with every penalty which law and public opinion can furnish, they will show that universal suffrage has failed in New-York, and that Republicanism has not sufficient virtue in this City to purify itself from its own corruption.

It is for this broad reason that we have been so eager that the Committee of Seventy should take stern and decisive measures, and show to the world that our best citizens had at length realized our dangers, and were determined at any sacrifice to meet them. Men like TWEED and SWEENY are no contemptible antagonists, even for our picked citizens. No hesitation ever occurs to them between the purpose and the deed. They need no addresses or "reports." TWEED is already striking where his blows will best tell—among his constituency. He promises in private to pour out millions, if necessary, in this struggle. He has his network of corruption all over the State. The Judges themselves are entangled in it. He demands of his followers that they elect him to the Senate by a larger majority than ever, and they promise to do it.

The Committee have done well to appeal to the rural constituencies, but we should like to see in them and in all our citizens a deeper sense of the vital importance of this crisis, as affecting all Republican institutions, and the question how far in future corruption shall prevail in our public affairs. Every citizen will be affected by the decision of this contest in his daily business; every patriot will feel it in the triumph or defeat of Republicanism. It is a crisis in morals, as the war was in politics. The future of our children, the tone of all public morality, the victory of honesty over jobbery, of integrity over corruption—possibly the very permanency of the Republic, will depend on the courage and fortitude and wisdom with which we fight this battle now. All friends of popular liberty in all countries, all good and honest men everywhere, watch the contest with breathless interest; and if roguery triumphs, we shall hear a shout of exultation from the enemies of freedom and popular rights the world over.

Sunday Murders.

Does Superintendent KELSO intend to enforce the Excise law, or will he wait till for every unregarded letter of it, there has been sacrificed a human life? Last Sunday produced its usual crop of murders, every one of which was due directly or indirectly to the influence of liquor. Two at least were perpetrated in grog-shops, open in defiance of the existing law, and with the connivance of the Police. Another, that of O'BRIEN by FOLEY, would probably never have occurred had not the assassin been able to repair to a corner gin-mill, and there inflame his murderous resolution with whisky. For these three murders, at least, the men in whose power it is to close these villainous fountains of crime and bloodshed, must be held responsible.

Now we call upon Superintendent KELSO to do his plain duty on next Sunday, and on every Sunday thereafter, and so make tardy atonement for the willful dereliction of the past. With the downfall of the Ring, he should know, has vanished his only reason for pandering to the base passions of its lowest supporters. Under the new order of things, now happily dawning, he will be called to a strict accountability for this direct encouragement of crime. Unless he wishes to be held, morally, if not legally, an accessory before the fact to every rum-inspired murder that shall hereafter disgrace and shock our City, he will do well to shut up, on the coming Sunday, every bar-room within municipal limits. Then, if the murders still take place, we shall at least know it is not because the Police have done their best to encourage them.

A Bad Nomination.

MATTHEW P. BEMUS has been renominated by a Convention calling itself Republican in the First Assembly District of Chautauqua County. It is a nomination not fit to be made. Mr. BEMUS is precisely the kind of man that is not wanted in the next Legislature. He has been in that body long enough to have utterly ruined his reputation. He cannot command the confidence of honest men. In a fight with corruption, the Republican Party will be weakened, not strengthened, by such men as he. We are at a loss to understand how the honest Republicans of his district have allowed him to again foist himself upon them. His career has been one continued injury and insult to Republicanism. It is the success of such men that make impartial and thinking citizens hesitate to join any political party, to trust its professions or aid in carrying out its purposes. It is the presence in high places of men like BEMUS that has made the work of overthrowing Tammany so difficult and tedious. The community has long been ready to destroy Tammany, but it has had reasonable doubts as to whether there would be any less corruption if the power were given to a party that tolerated men of the stamp of BEMUS.

Is this a time for Republicans to identify themselves with corruptionists? We are engaged in a tremendous struggle with profligacy. Can we afford to make league with a man who is a notorious political profligate? We neither can nor will. The people are sick of being asked to support scoundrels merely for their party name. We do not know what stuff the people of Chautauqua are made of. They have borne uncomplainingly for years the burden of BEMUS' reputation. But if they are alive to the duties of the hour, if they know at all what is going on in the great community of which they are a part, they will submit no longer. They will not consent to attain the bad pre-eminence of sending to the Legislature nominally to fight Tammany a fellow who is after Tammany's own heart.

MINOR TOPICS.

At the meeting of the Tammany General Committee last night, TWEED dropped into poetry. Looking round on the sympathetic crowd of loafers and fellow-criminals, whom he hailed as "brothers and fellow-Democrats," the "Boss" is reported as having made certain deductions from the "smile of victory beaming from every glance" of the eyes of this precious assemblage. These inferences, it need hardly be said, partake almost equally of braggadocio and impudence. According to TWEED, the Tammany ideal is to believe only in the right, and, after taking proper measures to secure its triumph, to wait the canvass of the ballots next 7th of November, in the assured confidence that every nominee of Tammany will have proved successful. It is hard to tell whether the amazing effrontery of the man is most to be wondered at, or his success in keeping so long out of the State Prison, which contains so many far less guilty inmates. The people may, meanwhile, profitably ponder over the certainty that if TWEED and his gang are permitted to remain in power for another six weeks, they are prepared to cheat, bribe and bully on a scale heretofore unattempted. It may also be noted that the "innocent" SWEENY engineered last night's meeting; that GENET and Judge KOCH made the motions under his instructions, and that SWEENY's agent moved the re-election of TWEED as President for the coming year. The incorruptible PETER B. is in the same boat as the other scoundrels, in spite of the persistent efforts of his friends to prove the contrary.

Mr. GRAHAM, the criminal lawyer, took an opportunity yesterday to make a disgraceful attack on Judge LEDWITH, and to utter the fine sentiment that when "Mr. TWEED falls, thousands of the poor of New-York would fall with him." Who made these men "poor" but TWEED and his fellow-knaves? Who has increased taxation until honest working men can scarcely find a roof to cover them? GRAHAM forgot to refer to those points. He also forgot to say that TWEED boasts of being worth twenty millions of dollars, brags of the diamond buttons on his children's shoes, of his stables, which are more sumptuous than many a hard-working man's house, of his garden and "palatial mansion" on Fifth-avenue, of his other palace at Connecticut, of his acres of real estate—all wrung out of his gains as a politician. A nice friend of the poor man, this! He is the sort of man who makes people poor, and keeps them so, and then throws a bone to them occasionally to keep them quiet. GRAHAM had better get up his case a little better next time.

We publish today another most interesting letter from our popular correspondent "Grace Greenwood." There is a freshness and an originality about all these letters from "G. G." which writers of greater pretensions might well envy—in fact, they are among the very few accounts of travel we have ever seen which really place before you the scenes and people described, and which make one wish that the writer would not be quite so brief. To most of our correspondents or contributors we are obliged to say, "Cut it short;" we believe we shall be expressing the wishes of our readers when we say to G. G., "Write oftener, and make your letters as long as you please." The letter which we publish today gives an account of a Colorado watering-place, in which, as we are told, "everybody is kind to everybody." We advise our correspondent not to leave such a Paradise in a hurry.

Judge JOHN K. PORTER is expected to go to Syracuse as a contesting delegate. He is elected from the Fourteenth Assembly District of this City. As he doesn't live there, he will doubtless be obliged to us for a little information as to the people he represents. Mr. GREELEY's Committee, in their earnest desire to create confusion, ordered elections at the same time for delegates to the State Convention, and to the local Conventions, without thinking whether they had material enough to go round, and in the Fourteenth District they obviously had not, for we find that BENJAMIN A. GICQUEL, besides being an engineer in the Tammany Fire Department and President of the E. D. Bradford Democratic Club, appears as a delegate no less than four times. Mr. BENJAMIN MERRITT's duties to the Health Board allow or compel him to be equally omnipresent, and he also contributes the service of two sons. Messrs. GILDER, of the Fire Department; BRADEN, of the Docks; DOWNING, of the Police; MCGUIRE and DOWLING, of the Democracy, help out the list. Diligent inquiry has left us unable to find any one who knows ten other of the delegates, or who ever heard of them. We suspect they are companions of "Peter Grease" and "Philip Donnarumma." Judge PORTER is to be accompanied by JOHN COCHRANE, who once lived in the district, and by Mr. IVERSON W. KNAPP, who was removed from the Appraiser's office during the incumbency of Mr. MCELRATH or Gen. PALMER, for a "cause" certainly not political.

The Peace Congress now assembled at Lausanne is a body with a refreshing amount of faith in human nature. The last great war was all that was needed, it seems, to herald the millenium. According to one of the members, France had taken her pummeling kindly and had shaken hands with Germany after the approved fashion of the athletes of the prize-ring. "In spite of BONAPARTES and BISMARCKS," the sincerity of the two nations could be relied on. It would be interesting to know whence Herr SONNEMANN, who expressed these sentiments, derived his rose-colored views about the peace of Europe. It certainly was not from French journals, French statesmen or party leaders, nor in fact from any generally recognized exponents of the sentiments of the French people.

The address of the Democratic Reform General Committee makes the just complaint against the Tammany Ring of having damaged the party as much as they have the credit of the City of New-York. On the question of ruling out partisan issues altogether from the present struggle, the address is not so explicit as it might have been. It is well enough to invite the "local and inferior organizations" to make the downfall of Tammany and the redemption of the party their paramount political obligation. But it might, profitably, have been added that, at the present crisis, party organizations of every grade of influence must recognize that their sole function is to rescue the City from the rule of thieves, and to place it under that of honest men, be their convictions on national politics what they may.

Educational reform is slow work in France, and the practical obstacles which its advocates have to meet, illustrate pretty clearly how very much neglected the subject has hitherto been. There is in the Assembly a knot of Republicans who are ardently devoted to the establishment of a national school system. Their ideal is free and compulsory tuition for all children of school age. In drafting the bill lately submitted to the Assembly, they had, however, to consider what was attainable, rather than what was absolutely desirable. The state of the national Exchequer caused them to defer the demand for gratuitous instruction for all, and the comparative smallness of the numbers of school-teachers was the reason assigned for confining the obligation of attending school to boys. The girls must wait before accommodation and teachers are provided for them. On the whole, it seems probable that no bill will be likely to pass until the means are forthcoming for organizing a public-school system worthy of the task allotted to it, that, namely, of regenerating a great people.

REAPPEARANCE OF MISS CHARLOTTE CUSHMAN.

"From childhood," said MACAULAY, "I have been hearing of nothing but decay, and I have been seeing nothing but progress." We trust Miss CUSHMAN will forgive us for being reminded of the phrase by her periodic farewells and returns to the stage. The spectacle affords a lesson of caution the more salutary for being so conspicuous; yet surely if the infringement of implicit promises can ever be condoned it must be in the case of an artist whose powers, ripe as they are, still show so much of "progress" and so little of "decay," and whose career in every aspect has been so thorough an honor to her profession and to her country.

The audience at Booth's Theatre last night was worthy of the occasion. For numbers, fashion and intelligence it may be called alike remarkable; and there seemed to prevail a gratifying spirit of national pride in thus saluting a lady who has done what Miss CUSHMAN has in making the title of "American artist" respected and memorable. Our best social elements were well represented, and there was the usual gathering of familiar faces that denote the opening in form of the dramatic season. Miss CUSHMAN was very enthusiastically received, and she went through Queen Katherine with much force, subtlety and elaboration. Some failure of the voice, here and there, must be admitted, and in our judgment Miss CUSHMAN is deficient in dignity for the character, or rather throws into it too little of that quality, and is even at times too virulent, but it is a regal impersonation for all that. It is alive throughout with that with which FUSELI said he mixed his colors—brains; and it therefore continually compels our gratitude and our respect. The more feminine graces Miss CUSHMAN truly has not at command. Of the witching arts that go to make our ideals of Belvidera, of Juliet, or of Ophelia, she conveys no suggestion. No soft blandishments, no captivating despotism, no unseen chains that bind like triple steel, are conjured up by Miss CUSHMAN's port or intonation. Her intellect, in a word, is essentially masculine. She pierces to the root of things, analyses thought and motive, and holds her work up to the light with the assured wisdom of a deep-thinking man. Her victories are won by hard blows, and never by the confession of weakness. Of course Miss CUSHMAN is a peculiar artist, and in some sense she is a limited one. She is by no means a female GARRICK, and, indeed, is the practical opposition of him, whose versatility was simply unbounded. Only a few parts, a few passions, a few phases of human nature, has it been given her successfully to depict. But in these she is prodigiously great. The concentration of energy has produced irresistible force, and her Meg Merrilies and Helen MacGregor are superb beyond parallel, in a measure just because she cannot touch Viola or Desdemona. Miss CUSHMAN's reading of Queen Katherine is admirably finished and satisfactory. No pleasure can be finer of its kind than listening to her treatment of the text; and the obvious keen appreciation of last night's audience gave additional zest to an intellectual treat of a high order.

Miss CUSHMAN's support was in some respects excellent, and in others less commendable. Mr. CRESWICK, the Woolsey, is an actor of decided merit. His delivery is educated, melodious, and varied, his apprehension of the intricacies of character and emotion keen and exact, and his bearing graceful and dignified. The well known declamatory opportunities afforded to Woolsey, Mr. CRESWICK availed of with taste and discretion, and his performance was altogether creditable. Mr. CRESWICK was often warmly applauded, and is a decided acquisition to the Metropolitan stage. Mr. WALLER gave a respectable picture of "bluff" King Hal, and was perhaps not more explosive than is warranted by the text. Mr. PATEMAN was judicious, and so not too exaggerated as Lord Sands, and Mr. NORTON hardly made an acceptable Cromwell. Mr. JOHN WILSON was rather a noisy Buckingham, and Miss TERESA SELDEN a possible Anne Boleyn. The play has been sumptuously mounted, and the "sets" for the interior of WOOLSEY's palace and the trial scene are most excellent. The audience were delighted with the scenery and costumes as well as the acting, and testified their pleasure by repeated applause.

The leading features of Miss CUSHMAN's artistic career will be regarded with interest at this moment, and we will therefore observe that she first acted in New-York, if we mistake not, in September, 1836. Her opening part was Lady Macbeth, Mr. HAMBLIN being the Macbeth. That she originally meant to sing in opera is well known. Her voice, a rich contralto, unfortunately failed her; and the hopes raised by her first vocal efforts in public in Boston in 1830, were disappointed. There cannot be a doubt that but for this, Miss CUSHMAN would have become a great lyric artist. In that case the dramatic stage would have lost a noble ornament, and one, as time has shown, the place of which could not be supplied. Miss CUSHMAN's last regular engagement here was at the Winter Garden, and ended in March, 1861. Her last appearance in New-York was on the 21st of the same month for the benefit of the Dramatic Fund Association, when she played Lady Macbeth to the Macbeth of Mr. EDWIN BOOTH. Prior by a long time to these events Miss CUSHMAN had established a high reputation in London. She went there quite unknown, and there probably never was a more signal instance of ability in the face of obstacles literally forcing recognition. Of the lady's prosperous career during many engagements in her own country we need not speak.

In these days when a comely person and abundant assurance seem held sufficient credentials for the highest honors of the stage, it is a refreshing thing to see so grand an artist as Miss CUSHMAN once more shedding lustre upon it. Even if her stay is brief, the wholesome effect of dwarfing mediocrity, of reducing by irresistible suggestion, slender talent and inflated pretension to their proper level, must needs be gained by it. The cold power of such a woman measures as well as teaches, and in her presence the scales may well drop from the eyes of some who fancy they know what acting is, and are thus empowered to designate the high exemplars of the art. Miss CUSHMAN's successor may indeed come, an American tragic actress who "Shall star-like rise, as great in fame as she was,"

but so far we see no signs of her. Moderate talent we may boast, but no such soaring genius. The grasp, like that of a Titan, which Miss CUSHMAN has laid on certain special characters remains unequaled. Budding artists of "promise" indeed we have had by the dozen; but somehow they fail to ripen into flower. The procession is still kept up, the new comers being often times heralded with pæans of joy and bathed in the incense of the credulous, the interested or the partial; yet apply the test and the precious jewel is not there; the old tale is continually repeated, that aspiration, even when aided by loveliness, assures not achievement; and they whose fate it is to tell it still learn their own monotonous lesson that such aspirants, like the sun-god, may be "beautiful to follow," and yet "terrible to behold."

MISS WESTERN AT WOOD'S.

Miss LUCILLE WESTERN appeared at Wood's Museum last evening in a drama introduced by its French title of "La Mendiante." The adapter's work has been done with unusual literary skill, but the quantity of dialogue, though its quality is good, is excessive. "La Mendiante" is, of course, a highly sensational piece, though it has neither been written nor translated for the sole ignoble purpose of showing elaborate scenery or "realistic effects." It is the story of a woman who has become the wife of a man who loves her fondly; who has borne her husband a child; who has then deceived him, and whose after-life is made beautiful and affecting by repentance. Miss WESTERN fills the leading part in "La Mendiante" with the power she displays in all her personations, and contrasted with which an expression of emotion that might else appear theatrical, becomes quite touching. The rôle of the hard-handed husband is very capably sustained by Mr. J. A. HEARNE. No other performance calls for notice. The bill remains unchanged throughout this week.

Musical.

HERR WACHTEL'S REPRESENTATIONS.

An immense audience was again packed into the Stadt Theatre last evening, when Herr WACHTEL repeated his personation of Manrico, in "Il Trovatore." Though the gentleman was not quite so well disposed vocally, as on Friday last, he caused fully as much enthusiasm by a successful draught upon his unlimited chest resources in the "Di quella pira," which he again delivered, first in German, and then in English. Local audiences are fast becoming Italian in their expressions of delight: Herr WACHTEL was summoned before the curtain five times after his recital of the air. Wednesday he will be heard in BOIELDIEU's work, "La Dame Blanche."

NOTES OF TRAVEL.

IDAHO SPRINGS, Col., Saturday, Sept. 9, 1871.

I left Denver on the morning of the 7th, by stage, for this celebrated mountain watering-place. I was an outside passenger—indeed, had the place of honor, by the side of the driver, a famous Jehu, known only to me as "HI," which is probably "short" for HIRAM. Over the wildest and steepest parts of the route he drove six fiery steeds in a delightfully reckless style, spinning along by quite satisfactory precipices. Over one of these, he told me, his leaders once fell, and dangled and "screamed," and he above held up the others and saved the coach! How is that for Hi—ram! And we had a "thunder-storm in the Rocky Mountains," which approached as near as nature can get to BIERSTADT, and saw real Indians lurking under the aspens by the road-side. It is true the storm was soon over, and the savages consisted of a small brave of some twelve Summers, two squaws, and a pappoose—but such little incidents give a dash of adventure and romance to travel in this dull country, where there are no railroad disasters and no brigandage. The Indians about here are mountain vagrants, belonging to the "friendly Ute" tribe. These are they who rallied to the protection of our beloved Vice-President and his party against a threatened attack from the Arapahoes, in the Middle Park, some three years ago, and who afterward gave their distinguished protégés rather more of their society than was quite agreeable—there being at the best more of the Utele than the dulce about it.

By the way, a pleasant fellow-outsider entertained me that morning with some accounts of Indian fights and scares, and one quite singular Indian ghost-story. An officer of the Commissary, he said, related that while on one of his business expeditions to one of these mountain tribes, he was sitting one night in a wigwam, with several Chiefs, smoking and conversing amicably, when suddenly the Indians sprung up with looks of terror and ran out. He followed and inquired the meaning of the stampede, and was told that the ghost of a lately-deceased brave had appeared in their midst. He looked back into the wigwam and saw only the favorite dog of the departed Chief, which was behaving very strangely, leaping up and fawning on the air, with every sign of canine delight and affection. The awe-struck Indians said, "He sees his master."

How they saw him, when the white man could not, I did not learn, nor how long for the dog the vision lingered, but it is pleasant to think that the poor animal's loving demonstrations could not have been cut short by a brutal blow or kick. I think if I were the dog, or the squaw of a noble savage, I should prefer him in such an unsubstantial shape.

This animal seership is not a new idea. I remember a beautiful old picture of the "Nativity of the Virgin," by MURILLO, I think, in which no one of a large group of elderly gossips and pretty maidens, come to see the baby, perceives an angel also looking on with mild interest; but a dog evidently sees the celestial visitor, and is sniffing in an awe-struck manner at his cerulean robes.

The fellow-passenger I have referred to I found a refined and cultivated gentleman. He came to Colorado several years ago, fresh from Harvard, and has been ever since engaged in mining or superintending a mine. Though all his golden dreams have not been realized, he loves this grand mountain-land too much to leave it. Another gentleman tells me that in some localities three out of five of the practical miners are college-bred men. Two Ex-Professors of Yale are said to be mining at Caribou.

Idaho is cosily ensconced in a most picturesque valley, on the south branch of ubiquitous Clear Creek. It is still a modest little place, but it has two excellent hotels, and the sulphur springs and soda-baths are making it a most attractive point for invalids. The warm swimming-baths are especially delightful, and are said to be most efficacious in cases of skin disease and rheumatism. The weather is singularly buoyant; one would find it difficult to commit suicide in it, without, like Merdle, calling in the aid of a pen-knife. It were the pursuit of self-destruction under difficulties.

I have not been able to make any excursions, or to visit any of the mines in this vicinity, as the "big rains are in," and after such an unprecedented dry season, we can hardly count on fair weather very soon. I found here Mr. and Mrs. S. S. COX, old Columbus and Washington acquaintances, charming companions always, but now, with their generous sympathies quickened and their pleasant wit stimulated by deep draughts of the new wine of life from the wild vintages of California and Colorado, they overflow with kindly feeling and genial joyous spirits. There is also at this nice hotel—the Beebee House—a delightful family from my native State, who, having spent a whole Summer here, are yet unwilling to depart. Everybody is kind to everybody here. The hand stretched out to you has always a heart in it. Very slight, sometimes, are the grounds of special sympathy and acquaintance. Mr. COX says it reminds him of a friendly inn-keeper at Alcantara, who, on hearing he was from New-York, said, with generous effusion, "Ah, Señor, I feel acquainted with you! I have a friend in Brazil."

Idaho is thought a better point for consumptives than Georgetown; but I think, from all I can learn, that such invalids should not come into the mountains at all, but stop at Greeley, Denver, Golden, or Boulder, or at a lovely place among the pines, called "Wilson's," about half way between here and Denver. The very quality of this upper mountain air, which renders it almost a certain cure for asthma—its extreme rarity, makes it hurtful to lungs badly diseased. There have been several sad cases this year of sudden deaths from hemorrages. Invalids—intoxicated by the ethereal purity of the air, stimulated by scenery so new and grand, led on and up by the enticing mysteries of mountain gorge and torrent and lake, and by the splendors of snowy heights, that mock and yet allure—exhaust themselves before they are aware, and sink with fearful rapidity. They make desperate efforts to save themselves by catching at the doctor, but it is all over with them. Said the dying stage-driver to his friend, "I'm on the down grade, Jim, and I can't reach the brake."

I have no doubt, however, that with proper care and comfortable and quiet living, decided consumptive tendencies can be overcome, and firm health established in Colorado. Bronchitis and sore-throat are usually cured, but catarrh is likely to be aggravated on the plains and foot-hills at least, probably by the dust, and wind-storms.

As for confirmed asthmatics—unhappy men and women, who, like shipwrecked mariners, perishing of thirst, with "water, water everywhere"—gasp and fight for their scanty breath in a world of air—they who find it not difficult to realize the sufferings of men suffocated in mines, or the horrors of the "Black Hole" of Calcutta—they who once a year at least must rehearse the death agony, yet cannot die—for them, brothers and sisters in affliction,

"I wish to remark,
And my language is plain,

that I do not believe there is out of Heaven such a place as the mountain land of Colorado. The higher I have gone thus far, the better it has seemed for me. Even the brief dampness which here follows a storm seems not to be hurtful, so unlike is it to the harsh, raw dampness of the East and North. But when the air is perfectly dry it is to me the most buoyant and delicious. It has all the etherial properties of champagne. I drink it in long, deep draughts. The worst of it is it goes to my head, and I do not sleep well. I have here a peculiar lightness of the brain, as well as of the spirits. This may be a temporary effect, due in great part to mental excitement. Real mountaineers are famous sleepers, I believe.

This Idaho Valley, now so bare of all verdure and foliage, was once grassy and thickly wooded. It has been wasted and despoiled of all such beauty by the gold-seekers—principally gulch-miners. In one place the golden stream had been so severely dealt with—its very bed taken out from under it, pits dug beside it, rocks tumbled about—that I exclaimed, "Surely, mining did not do all this; it looks like a convulsion of nature!"

"A convulsion of human-nature, Madam," said a fellow-traveler.

Towering above Idaho, in full sight from the hotel, is that interesting family-group of mountains called the Chief, the Squaw and the Pappoose—the only dignified "noble savages" and really "friendly Indians" I have yet seen, and the only ones not likely to move on. The poor Chief has lost his scalp-lock; that is, his head is "above timber-line," being over eleven thousand feet high.

It is so rainy that we cannot make the acquaintance of this aboriginal "first family." Hon. S. S. COX, with an adventurous friend, did make the ascent, day before yesterday, to Chicago Lakes, to seek the scene of BIERSTADT's "Storm," and got it—the storm. The grand scene kept up its reputation—hailed the distinguished gentlemen—gave them a thunderous greeting, and illuminated for them with lightnings. Old Congressmen as they were, and accustomed to public appearances, they were quite overwhelmed with their reception, and when they retired to rest in an abandoned log-cabin, lacking the little luxury of a roof, and the demonstration was kept up, they confessed that it was possible to have too much of the sublime and beautiful—of the Bierstadtic order. During that night of grand storm "effects," and unusual length, our poetic Democratic friend was never once heard to quote appropriate passages from BYRON, such as

"O Night!
And storm, and darkness, ye are wondrous strong,
Yet lovely in your strength, as is the light
Of a dark eye in woman.

And this is in the night—most glorious night,
Thou wert not made for slumber—let me be
A sharer in thy fierce and fair delight,
A portion of the tempest, and of thee."

But strangely enough, as he lay there, cowering under his blanket, and clinging close to his companion, an old school-fellow, his lips, every now and then, gave forth a well-remembered cry of his childhood, desolate and wondrous pitiful, "I want to go home!"

The great painter of twenty thousand dollar pictures should have been there again, to have painted "Sunset" on the Rocky Mountains.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Stamping out the Kuklux in the South—The Norton Defalcation—The War Claims Commission—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The Government, through the strong arm of the civil law, is laying its hand on the infernal Kuklux organization in the South, and the work of its destruction has fairly begun. In thirteen convictions in the United States Circuit Court at Raleigh in a short time there will be other and more important results, which will create a feeling of profound satisfaction with the manner in which the Government is enforcing the laws and bringing these wretched offenders to justice. Additional evidence is daily coming to light, and some of the principal leaders will be punished for their crimes. Among the men who are now in custody is the grand cyclops of the Order of the White Brotherhood of North Carolina.

THE NEW-YORK MONEY-ORDER CASE.

The entire amount of the Morton money-order defalcation in the New-York Post-office will be passed to the credit of the Government in the returns of that office for the quarter ending Sept. 30, inst.

THE JOINT WAR CLAIMS COMMISSION.

Judge HALE, agent of the United States in the Joint Claims Commission, arrived this morning, and that body will organize at the State Department to-morrow. They will proceed to adopt rules and regulations for the government of the Commission, which will probably not occupy more than two or three days, and will then adjourn probably for a month, as there is no business ready for the Commission, and it is hardly probable that they will get fairly to work for two or three months. The archives, reference-books, papers, &c., of the British Commissioner have arrived, and present a formidable array of some twenty or more cases.

PERSONAL.

Gen. SHERMAN returned to the city this morning from his visit of inspection in New-York harbor. Among other prominent arrivals in the city today are Hon. A. G. CATTELL, Senator BETTLE and B. F. ARCHER, of New-Jersey; Hon. ABRAM WAKEMAN, of New-York; Attorney-General CHAMBERLAIN, of South Carolina; Ex-Confederate Gen. RODDEY, of Alabama, and United States Marshal WHEELER, of Montana. Secretary ROBESON speaks at Horticultural Hall in Philadelphia to-night, and Secretary BOUTWELL in Cincinnati on Thursday night. The Kuklux Committee have broken up and most of the members have gone home. Senators CHANDLER and SCOTT will leave to-morrow. Senator WILSON, of the Republican Congressional Executive Committee, left to-night for Massachusetts. Gov. MCCOOK, of Colorado, left for New-York to-night, and will sail for England on Wednesday.

BOND PRINTING PAPER.

From the 1st of July, 1869, to the 1st of July, 1871, there have been manufactured for the use of the Treasury Department, in printing bonds, notes, currency and stamps, 58,427,749 sheets of distinctive paper. Every sheet of this paper has been accounted for, even to fractional parts in some instances pieces as small as the half of a ten cent fractional note having been made a special item of account. In all of this immense amount of paper, owing to the careful and systematic arrangement of the business introduced by the Secretary of the Treasury, not one sheet has been lost or mislaid.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis of Events and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26—1 A. M.—The barometer has risen since Sunday night in the Middle and Eastern States, but is now again falling, a small area of low pressure being between Lakes Ontario and Superior. An area of high barometer has advanced from Minnesota south and east, with falling temperature and northerly winds. The barometer has fallen slightly on the South Atlantic, with continued cloudiness and rain on the coast. Cloudy weather has extended over the Middle Atlantic States, and threatening weather from Kentucky to Lake Erie, with light rain on the lakes. Hazy weather continues in New-England, and fires are reported from Upper Michigan.

PROBABILITIES.

Clear weather will probably continue, with cool northerly winds, on Tuesday, from Alabama to Lake Superior westward; partially cloudy and clearing weather in the interior of Florida and in the South Atlantic States; cloudy weather, with light rain from the middle Atlantic to the lower lakes; smoky and cloudy weather in New-England. No predictions have been issued from this office respecting the so-called tidal wave, nor is any such wave anticipated.

The following dispatch was received at 7:50 P. M. at the head-quarters of the Signal Bureau, having been at the same time telegraphed to all the stations on the lakes:

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 25.—Very high winds with light rains have set in.
(Signed,) ALLEN BUELL, Observer.

The Signal Office has such telegraphic facilities that at any hour, day or night, should reports of heavy storms be received, the regions over which the storm is likely to extend can be warned some hours in advance, the head-quarters being in direct comunication with all the principal cities of this country.

THE UNSAFE REPUBLICANS.

We published, in reply to the demand of the Tribune, two weeks ago, the list of the persons holding office under Tammany Hall who were officers in the Twenty-second-street organization. Our contemporary did not venture to publish our list, or to examine in detail, or even to contradict our statements. It contented itself with selecting a dozen names or so, as to which we had expressly stated that our information was less definite than as to others, and then, without venturing to deny our statements as to even one of these, it called them a sample of the whole, and sought to dispose of them as "tottle." Perhaps the Republicans of the State are to be deceived into taking as guides those who are today receiving the money of TWEED and HALL; but it is to underrate their intelligence to suppose that such a result is to be attained in this way. We republish our list, with one or two changes. If any man has denied the charge made against him, we have omitted his name, even though in many cases the denial is very ambiguous, or have given our reasons for continuing to include it.

Of delegates to the General Committee, there are now deriving emolument from Tammany the following:

HENRY SMITH, Police Commissioner.
AMOS STOOKEY, under Health Board.
GILBERT LOWE, under Commissioners of Charities and Corrections.
CHARLES BATHMANN, under Board of Docks.
GEORGE MCGRANN, under TWEED, Commissioner of Public Works.
JAMES MCLAREN, Tester of Oils, under Fire Marshal.
EDWARD LAWRENCE, under Charities and Correction.
SAMUEL NASH, under Health Board.

DAVID MILLER, Deputy Tax Commissioner, member of Americus Club.
BENJAMIN T. SHAFFER, School Officer, on Tammany ticket.
WILLIAM P. ALLEN, Clerk to Engineer of Fire Department.
J. SOLIS RITTERBAND, Counsel to Tax Commissioners, at $10,000 a year.
JOHN M. COSTA, Court Clerk.
JAMES GALWAY, Fire Commissioner.
STEPHEN H. KNAPP, described by Tribune as in "Tammany interest."
ELI TAYLOR, under Public Works.
HARVEY H. WOODS, School Inspector, appointed by OAKEY HALL.
MARTIN FRELEIGH, Surgeon to Police.
JAMES L. HASTIE, printer and stationer to Health Board.

ALFRED LANCASTER, has a son and son-in-law in office.
GEORGE F. COACHMON, under Health Board.

A. BROWN, Jr., under Health Board.

Of officers of the several Associations, there are the following

PRESIDENTS OF ASSOCIATIONS.

HENRY SMITH, Police Commissioner.
MARK LANIGAN, described in Tribune of June 13, 1870, as having trained with Tammany Republicans; avowed he had to vote in a certain way to get his place.
THOMAS MULLIGAN, held sinecure at $2,500 a year till within a couple of weeks.
JAMES MCLAREN, Tester of Oils under Fire Marshal.
WILLIAM C. HANNA, Superintendent of Jefferson Market Court-house at $6,000 a year.

TREASURERS.

JOSEPH COSTA, under Health Board.
JOHN P. GILMORE, under Tax Commissioners.
HENRY BEENY, under Health Board.
E. L. BULLOCK, under Health Board.
J. LEWIS, under Health Board.

MULLIGAN, NESBITT and MCLAREN have heretofore sent us very ambiguous denials, but our own information is now so definite that we continue the insertion of their names. They must remember that the secrets of the Ring are being disclosed. Of these men every one can be removed from office the moment TWEED, SWEENY and Co. decide that it does not pay to keep them in office, except HENRY SMITH and JAMES GALWAY, and possibly MITCHELL, the school teacher. SMITH and GALWAY can be impeached by HALL at any time, and he claims the power to remove them.

OF THE DELEGATES TO STATE CONVENTION.

MICHAEL HAYES is said to have voted the Democratic ticket last Fall; had a fight with MARK LANIGAN, President of the Association; an ear was bitten off, and fine of $25 imposed by Judge SCOTT.
THOMAS MULLIGAN; see above.
ANDREW BLEAKLEY, member of old Board of Supervisors; got his son appointed Court Clerk, which he now holds.
HUGH NESBITT; see above.
JAMES MCCARTIN has lived in Kings County for three years past.
THOMAS E. STEWART, member of Democratic State Committee in 1866, and Democratic candidate for member of Congress.
STEPHEN H. KNAPP, described by Tribune, October, 1870, as "in Tammany interest."
JOHN DUKE, contractor under Board of Education.
GEORGE H. VAN CLEFT, City Surveyor.

Messrs. BENAMIN T. MUDGETT and BENJAMIN A. WILLIS appear on the judicial records of this State in characters which suggest doubts as to their fitness to represent any honest constituents.

OF THE ALTERNATES.

DENNIS C. SULLIVAN is a member of the Walter Roche Democratic Club.
CHARLES BATHMAN is under Dock Commission.
SAMUEL NASH, under Board of Health.
EDWARD LAWRENCE, under Charities and Correction.
IVERSON W. KNAPP was removed from Appraiser's Office for cause; we think it was done at request of Gen. GEO. W. PALMER.
JOMTHA WILSON, Nineteenth District, under Charities and Correction.

It may show how Tammany influence pervades these associations if we add a specimen of the kind of delegates elected to the local conventions at the same time with the delegates to the State Convention.

We take the Second District:

TO THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

GILBERT LOWE and PATRICK GOLDEN, both under Commissioners of Charities and Correction; and DENNIS MCLAUGHLIN, under Health Board.

TO THE SENATORIAL CONVENTION.

DANIEL MOORE, who swung from his window last Fall the banner of the Democratic candidates for Sheriff and Member of Assembly.
JOHN HEANY, under Board of Public Works.

TO THE ASSEMBLY CONVENTION.

JOHN CONNERS, President of William Walsh Democratic Association.
JAMES O'NEIL, fireman in Court-house.

JAMES GRADY, a Democrat.
DENNIS P. SULLIVAN, who killed TOM BURNS.
LORENZO CASEY and DAVID RHODES don't live in the District.

We trust the delegates to the State Convention will include these facts with their credentials.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Republican primary caucuses in Buffalo on Saturday night resulted in favor of Senator CONKLING and the Administration.

Hon. WILLIAM B. WOODIN, of Auburn, has been renominated by acclamation as the Republican candidate for Senator in the Twenty-fifth District.

Ex-Senator HIRAM R. REVELS, of Mississippi, is in ill-health, but hopes soon to be strong enough to take the stump in that State in behalf of the Republicans.

Col. JOHN R. POPHAM, who was a leading Republican member of the Lower House of the West Virginia Legislature, has been nominated for the State Senate in the Richmond District.

STEPHEN W. FULLERTON and JOHN H. DRAKE have been appointed delegates from the First District of Orange County to the Judicial Convention for the Second District, to be held in Brooklyn on Tuesday, Oct. 3.

The campaign in Pennsylvania is getting to be lively. On Saturday night Secretary ROBESON spoke in Lancaster, and JOHN HICKMAN, GALASHA A. GREW, and JOHN W. FORNEY in Towanda, Bradford County.

The Newark Courier says Honest JOHN HILL has taken off his coat and gone to work for Mr. WALSH in the Fourth District of New-Jersey, and it intimates that when Honest JOHN moves the District moves with him.

The recount in San Francisco of the vote for Harbor Commissioner increased the vote of the Republican candidate from 11,063 to 11,168, and that of the Democratic candidate from 13,094 to 13,155, a net Republican gain of 44.

The Republican Convention in the Sixth District of Illinois, to nominate a candidate for Congress in place of Hon. BURTON C. COOK, resigned, is to be held in Morris, Grundy County, on Wednesday, Oct. 4.

Unofficial returns from thirty-two counties in Nebraska give 609 majority for the new Constitution. Nineteen counties remain to be heard from, and the opponents of the Constitution still refuse to admit that it has been ratified.

Col. JACOB, of West Virginia, has issued his proclamation announcing that the people have voted in favor of a constitutional convention, there being a majority of 2,582 votes for it. Two counties were not officially reported. The Governor also directs the holding of an election of delegates to the Convention on the 19th of October.

The Financial Committee of the National Capitol removers in St. Louis held a meeting on Friday and voted to raise $100,000 immediately, to pay the expenses of Mr. REANS, who intends to visit the different State capitals this Winter and deliver lectures in favor of the removal while the Legislatures are in session.

In a letter to the Congressional Committee to inquire into the condition of the late insurrectionary States, Gov. SCOTT, of South Carolina, says the amount of the funded debt of the State existing before the war was $4,046,540 16; the provisional Government issued bonds amounting to $1,023,473 94; and the present Administration has issued $4,458,550; total issue of bonds and stock, $9,528,564 10.

The San Francisco Bulletin publishes a long article intended to expose the black-mailing to which candidates of both political parties were subjected by unprincipled fellows during the campain just closed. The article throws much light on the way nominations are often bought and sold, and also shows that (in California) not unfrequently men, clubs and cliques, falsely pretending great influence, extort money from ambitious seekers after nominations.

After its manner the San Antonio (Texas) Herald says: "Hon. JOHN W. ROBERTSON contradicts the infamous lie about the rebels burning a United States flag at Bremond. He says it disappeared from the stand while the infamous Judge THURMOND was speaking, and he believes it was taken with THURMOND's knowledge and consent. It was not burned, and nothing was said about the matter until next day, when some miserable Rad. thought some political capital could be raised by starting the report that it was burned by the rebels."

The national colored convention called by colored citizens of Nebraska met in St. Louis on Friday, its objects being to select a holiday for the general commemoration of the events which have resulted in their emancipation and admission to the right of suffrage, and to consider the means of education of the colored people. Delegates were present from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, Indiana, Arkansas and Missouri. The number from the last named State was largely in excess of the delegates from all the rest, and the first day was consumed in a contest over the election of presiding officer, by a discussion of the basis of representation.

Hon. WINTHROP YOUNG, in his letter accepting the Democratic nomination for Governor of Minnesota, avows his entire devotion to that kind of government which shall least interfere with the ordinary rights of the people, and which shall, while equally distributing its burdens, least oppress and most ennoble the hand of honest industry; and he promises that, should be be elected, he will not deny the capacity of men for self-government, by refusing to the direct representatives of the people an approval of such measures as shall have been fairly passed upon, and shall not conflict with the fundamental law of the State.

Colored People's National Convention at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—The National Convention of the colored people continues in session today. Resolutions were introduced and referred, to petition Congress to remove all disabilities from the repentant rebels of the South; to urge aggressive war against spirituous liquors; favoring the extension of the suffrage to women. On the motion a committee of seven was appointed to prepare an address to the people of the United States. CHAS. D. DERANDAIME, of St. Louis, made a strong speech against any distinct political action by the colored people, and moved that the Convention adjourn sine die, which was defeated by a large majority. The Business Committee reported a resolution setting apart the Fourth of July to commemorate the several events which have culminated in the present position of the colored people in full possession of the rights of American citizens. Two minority reports were made, one recommending the 1st of January and the Fourth of July, and the other the 1st of August.

THE GREAT FIRE IN AMBOY, ILL.

BANKING-HOUSE OF JOSIAH LITTLE,
AMBOY, Aug. 29, 1871.

I was fortunate in having one of your HERRING'S PATENT SAFES, which contained all my valuable books, papers, currency and securities, which are preserved without injury; in fact, everything taken out of the safe after the fire was in nearly the same condition as when placed in the safe the night before.

JOSIAH LITTLE.

ANOTHER.

MAYOR'S OFFICE, AMBOY, Ill., Aug. 29, 1871.

On the second floor, in the Council Room, we had a HERRING'S PATENT CHAMPION SAFE, which contained a large quantity of books and papers belonging to the city, which were preserved uninjured. The safe was not removed from the ruins until today—four days after the fire—and was still hot when taken out.

ISAAC EDWARDS, Mayor.
EVERITT E. CHASE, City Clerk.

THE GREAT FIRE AT WILLIAMSPORT, PENN.

FIFTY BUILDINGS BURNED.

WILLIAMSPORT, Aug. 23, 1871.

The safe was opened thirty-six hours after the fire.

Yours, &c., ELISHA ALLIS, Executor.

FIRE IN PEORIA, ILL.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 18, 1871.

At the time of the great fire here my distillery, with a number of other buildings, were burned. A HERRING'S PATENT SAFE contained and preserved my books and papers uninjured. I don't think any safe could be subject to a severer test. The stove in the office near the safe was melted.

KINGSLEY'S WEST INDIES.
AT LAST:
A CHRISTMAS IN THE WEST INDIES.
By CHARLES KINGSLEY.
Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1 50.

"In this book, as during his visit, Mr. Kingsley revels in the gorgeous wealth of the West Indian vegetation, bringing before us one marvel after another, alternately sating and piquing our curiosity. Whether we climb the cliffs with him, and peer over into the narrow bays which are being hollowed out by the trade surf, or wander through impenetrable forests, where the tops of the trees form a green cloud overhead, or gaze down glens which are watered by the clearest brooks, running through masses of palm and banana, and all the rich variety of foliage, we are equally delighted and amazed."—Athenæum, London.

"The strength of his work, as well as its peculiar charm, consists in his descriptions of the animal and vegetable life, in the luxuriant wealth of which he revels with all the ardor of a vehement, poetical nature."—New-York Tribune.

"Mr. Kingsley's powers of observation and description are great, and both botanist and zoologist will acknowledge that he has used eyes and pen to good account in order to produce this book, which will be very interesting and attractive, alike to the scientific naturalist, the politician, and the general reader."—Globe, London.

THE GREY HOUSE ON THE HILL.
By Mrs. GREENE, Author of "Cushions and Corners."
Beautifully bound. $1 25.

"A touching and charming story. The central figure, a doctor's boy, falls under unjust suspicions, which, by a fatality of circumstances, he cannot clear up. Miss Lilly, the doctor's daughter, is very attractive, in spite of the dreadful sin and deceit of which she is guilty; while her great rough schoolboy brother, Tom, is made absolutely fascinating by his honesty and affection."—Athenæum.

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

Unexpectedly, business for the week opened yesterday with a public auction at the Exchange, conducted by JOSEPH MCGUIRE, as follows: Sale by order of the Supreme Court, in foreclosure, under the direction of SIDNEY H. STEWART, Esq., referee, of property located on the west side of First-avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, embracing a lot 24 feet 8 inches front by 100 feet in depth, (rear line irregular,) with two buildings thereon, namely, four-story brick store and tenement house front in size 24.8 by 50, and a three-story brick tenement house rear, 20.10 by 25. Premises purchased by GEORGE HERTFELDER for $19,000—a figure considered low. The buyer, however, it must be remarked, was a party in interest to the suit. Aside from this transaction the market was quiet, with nothing of particular importance to note. To-day, at the Exchange, the following legal sales of City real estate are announced by JOSEPH MCGUIRE and JAMES M. MILLER, respectively: Two brick tenement houses and lots Nos. 559 and 561 Eleventh-avenue, between Forty-second and Forty-third streets, and a house and lot on Twenty-seventh-street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues.

At private sale, V. K. STEVENSON & SON, No. 11 Pine-street, report having recently sold the four-story high-stoop Ohio-stone-front house and lot, No. 50 East Fifty-third-street, for $38,000. House 20.7 by 63, lot 20.7 by 100. WM. TUCKER, No. 220 Fifth-avenue, also reports having sold the house and lot No. 27 Stuyvesant-street for $14,000. In connection with property offered at private sale, persons in search of a desirable private residence are advised to consult the lists of E. H. LUDLOW & CO., No. 3 Pine-street; of HOMER MORGAN, No. 2 Pine-street; of TAYLOR & STEARNS, No. 1½ Pine-street; of M. A. J. LYNCH & HUGH N. CAMP, No. 106 Broadway, corner of Pine-street, and of FRANK G. & DAVISON BROWN, No. 100 Broadway.

To our list of public sales for the week, published yesterday, the following should be added. On Saturday, Sept. 30, by order of the Court of Common Pleas, in foreclosure, under the direction of STEPHEN H. OLIN, Esq., referee, WINANS, SANDS & GARRETSON will sell at the Exchange, two houses and lots—the latter each 16.8 by 100.11—located on the north side of One Hundred and Thirteenth-street, 166 feet 8 inches west of First-avenue.

The list of recent transfers of City property recorded in the Real Estate Record of Saturday, Sept. 23, embraced a number of special interest, and the most important of these were given yesterday. Our limited space, however, prevented us from transcribing, as we intend to do, every week all transfers where the value of the realty—the title which passes—exceeds the sum of $25,000. In the list appended the record is made complete, the transfers omitted yesterday being given in detail:

PROF. ROBERTS

Would respectfully announce to his pupils, friends, and also to principals of schools, that he is now prepared to resume tuition in DANCING and CALISTHENICS, and is ready to negotiate with institutes, academies and private families. Prof. ROBERTS has had an experience of fifteen years, and great success has attended his previous efforts, and secured for him the most prominent position in this particular branch of a thorough education.

Particular attention given to young ladies, misses and masters as regards elegance of manner, which he flatters himself is the characteristic of those who have profited by his instructions.

Ladies and gentlemen wishing to form classes will be attended at their residences, either in or out of the City. Prof. ROBERTS will also introduce this season figures of the German, which are entirely new and novel.

HIGHEST TESTIMONIALS GIVEN.

Prof. ROBERTS has taught dancing in our Institution with great acceptance. In his method of teaching, and gentlemanly bearing, we think he has no superior in his profession, and he will compare favorably with Mr. Chariaud, who for many years was THE teacher of dancing in New-York City. Parents and guardians who are seeking a suitable instructor for their children and wards in this accomplishment, would do well to secure Prof. ROBERTS' valuable services. THE MISSES BUCKNALL.

First Mortgage, Convertible, 7 Per Cent. Gold Bonds

OF THE

PEORIA & ROCK ISLAND RAILWAY

OF ILLINOIS.

First Mortgage Bonds - - - $1,500,000
Capital Stock - - - - - - - - 2,000,000

This is a COMPLETED Road 91 miles in length, connecting the important Cities of Peoria on the Illinois River, and Rock Island, Moline and Davenport, on the Mississippi. Davenport, on the opposite bank of the river, is connected by a railway bridge. The last rail of this road was laid July 7, 1871, and the line is now open and being operated with a success exceeding all anticipation. In order to place upon the road the large equipment necessary for the business offered, and to construct depots, car and engine-houses, machine-shops, &c., equal to any of the best old roads in the country, as is now required of this, the Company offer, through the undersigned, $1,500,000 convertible first mortgage gold bonds, which cover the entire property of the Company, and is less than $17,000 per mile. PRESENT PRICE, 90, AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY. Principal and interest payable in coin at New-York or London, free of tax.

This road, opened for the immense local as well as through traffic, now offered, will prove one of the most profitable in the West, traversing as it does a section of country unsurpassed in fertility of soil and agricultural resources, already thickly populated and in a high state of cultivation. This is self-evident from the fact that every section of the road passes through cultivated fields and many flourishing towns and villages, with a large city and navigable river at each end. Railroads in the West have been heretofore constructed through unsettled and uncultivated regions of the country, consequently have had but little local traffic to depend upon for several years after construction. But the Peoria and Rock Island Railway is a first class COMPLETED road, with NO PARALLEL or COMPETING LINE, and RUNS THROUGH ONE OF THE RICHEST AGRICULTURAL, MANUFACTURING AND MOST POPULOUS DISTRICTS IN THE WEST. Thus it is certain that the local business is already more than enough to sustain the road, while the through traffic is unlimited, as its connections are numerous, which can be seen by a glance at the map.

This road is a grand central link, to which many of the principal lines centralize and diverge to all parts of the continent.

We invite the attention of investors to this loan. Being familiar with the wealth and resources of the country along the line of this railway and A MEMBER OF OUR FIRM HAVING MADE A CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF THE ROAD AND ITS PROPERTY, WE CAN WITH THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE RECOMMEND THE BONDS AS A PRIME SECURITY, reliable and safe in every particular.

All marketable securities received in exchange at full rates, and bonds delivered to all parts of the country, free of express charges.

Maps, circulars, &c., with full particulars relating to the road, furnished on application by the undersigned, Financial Agents of the Company.

BALLAD CONCERTS,

AT
MONDAY, OCT. 9; TUESDAY, OCT. 10;
WEDNESDAY, OCT. 11, AND
THURSDAY, OCT. 12.

Mr. GEORGE DOLBY, in order to give to his novel series of Ballad Concerts—which includes also Glees and Madrigals—that high standard of excellence which shall gain the approval of the cultivated audiences of the United States, has engaged for his American tour the following artists, whose eminence has been cordially indorsed by the public and the Press of England, Ireland and Scotland:

Miss EDITH WYNNE, Soprano.
Mme. PATEY, Contralto.
Mr. W. H. CUMMINGS, Tenor.
Mr. J. G. PATEY, Bass.
Mr. SANTLEY, Baritone.
Piano-forte—Mr. LINDSAY SLOPER.

Mr. DOLBY believes that concerts in the language of the country—the selections being from the highest sources, both old and new, and interpreted by eminent artists, familiar with the schools—will be acceptable to the American people, and will secure a generous patronage; and that the part singing—glee and madrigal—brought to the nicest perfection of expression and tone-coloring by constant practice, will prove a popular and attractive feature of the Ballad Concerts.

The Concerts will commence each evening at 8 o'clock.

Admission, $1. Reserved seats, 50 cents and $1 extra, according to location.

The sale of tickets will commence at Steinway Hall on Monday, Oct. 2, at 9 o'clock A. M.

NATIONAL COMMERCE.

Annual Meeting of the Commercial Convention.

Opening Day at Baltimore—A Permanent Organization Effected—Debate on the Rules and Order of Business.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 25.—The Commercial Convention assembled today in the main hall of the Masonic Temple, which is handsomely decorated with national flags, shields and the coats of arms of the several States. The gallery was crowded with spectators, including a number of ladies. Among the distinguished persons on the floor were Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, and Ex-Gov. Dennison, of Ohio. At 12½ o'clock, John W. Garrett, Esq., who presided at the last Convention at Cincinnati, called the Convention to order and spoke as follows:

Gentlemen of the Convention: As the presiding officer of the Southern Commercial Convention, held in Cincinnati, in October last, I have been requested by the Committee of Arrangements to call this Convention to order. That Committee also desires me to state that, in view of the large national assemblage of the Masonic fraternity in Baltimore during the past week, and with the object of extending the hospitalities of this community to the members of this Convention more effectively, the time of this meeting was changed from the third to the fourth Monday in September. The last meeting of the Southern Commercial Convention marked an epoch in the progress of the reconciliation of the North and South. Twenty-five States were represented in that Convention, and among those States were Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Massachusetts, New-York, Nevada and Wisconsin. In that Convention, meeting on the soil of Ohio, were distinguished and able representatives from the North and the South; men who, acting upon honest conviction and stern principle, fought vigorously in the Federal and Confederate armies. Uniform kindness, cordiality and appreciation of Southern men and Southern interests characterized the action of the men of the North during the sittings of that Convention. All representatives of that section cordially united in recommending liberal appropriations for Southern harbors, rivers and internal improvements, and warmly advocated all measures for the restoration of the power and prosperity of the desolated South; and Southern delegates manifested a patriotism which prompted them to heartily indorse all plans for the advancement of the interests of every section of our common country. These men, of all political parties, throwing aside partisan trammels, showed that the people of all those States desired a restoration of cordial relations and brotherhood, and were prepared again to recognize that the Southern States should be restored to their rights, their dignity and equality under the Constitution; that the hearts of the people of the West and the North again beat warmly and kindly for the people of the South. Such generous intercourse, and the respect and friendship which resulted from that intercourse, and the better knowledge each of the other of the citizens of those sections, led to the adoption of the resolution by which the delegates of that Convention requested Congress to pass a law granting general amnesty to the people of the South, and the repeal of all laws requiring test oaths, so as to remove all political disabilities wherever they exist. The chairman had the satisfaction, on that occasion, in announcing the vote on this resolution, to state that it had been unanimously and heartily adopted. Such was the result of that intercourse and fraternization, and so thoroughly in accord was all in the promotion of every proper financial and commercial interest, that a body which had originated as a Southern Convention, and held its meetings on Southern soil, resolved that the Convention now assembled as a continuation of the Southern Commercial Convention should meet as the National Commercial Convention. Constituted as is this Convention, embracing in its membership so many able and eminent citizens, perfect confidence may be entertained that its proceedings will be characterized by the same broad and liberal views, and that it will act so wisely, comprehensively and patriotically that its recommendations cannot fail to produce a salutary influence upon national legislation. Mr. Garrett concluded with an enthusiastic and hearty welcome to the delegates.

At the conclusion of Mr. Garrett's remarks prayer was offered by Rev. Henry Slicer, of the Methodist Church. Mayor Banks followed in an eloquent address of welcome on the part of the city authorities. Hon. Wm. Pinckney Whyte was next introduced, and delivered the general address of greeting and congratulation, which was received with rapturous applause.

Israel M. Parr, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, then announced the general arrangements for the accommodation of delegates and committees of the Convention; also the following programme of outside entertainments:

On Tuesday afternoon, after adjournment, a visit will be made to Druid Hill Park.

On Wednesday afternoon, an excursion down the Bay to Annapolis, as the guests of the Corn and Flour Exchange.

On Thursday afternoon, a visit to the machine-shops and steam-ship piers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

On Friday evening, a grand banquet by the citizens of Baltimore, at the Maryland Institute; also that the city authorities had placed at the disposal of the Committee of Arrangements two commodious steamers, for the use of the delegates during their stay who might desire to examine the harbor or make excursions: and that the Western Union and Pacific and Atlantic Telegraph Companies tendered the free use of their lines to the delegates.

Mr. Parr then announced that he was instructed by the Committee to recommend the following order of business:

1. Railway connections of the cities of Virginia with the great West. 2. Education. 3. Central line water communications between the North and the South. 4. Development of the gold and silver mines in the Pacific States and Territories. 5. The enlargement of the more important lines of canals in the United States, so as to render them navigable for vessels propelled by steam. 6. The encouragement of a reciprocal trade between the United States and Brazil and the other South American States. 7. Continuous inland water-line communication west from the Mississippi River along the Gulf coast to the Rio Grande. 8. Settled policy in the public interest in regard to the disposition of the Government lands. 9. Continuous water-line communication from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Ocean—all postponed from the Cincinnati Convention. 10. Railroads generally. 11. Department of Commerce. 12. American Navigation interests. 13. Revenue reform. 14. Immunity of private property at sea in time of war. 15. Direct trade between the Southern Atlantic cities and Europe. 16. River navigation. 17. Construction of permanent levees, and removal of obstructions from the mouth of the Mississippi River. 18. Finance and taxation, including civil service reform. 19. Charges on passenger and freight traffic by rail and water lines. 20. To abolish throughout the whole country all licenses imposed on commercial travelers. 21. The improvement of the sea-coast harbors. 22. Ample railroad facilities from the Ohio River to the Central South. 23. Tares and short weights. 24. Foreign immigration. 25. Refunding of the cotton tax; from the Memphis Chamber of Commerce. 26. The Chesapeake and Delaware Ship Canal; from the Baltimore Board of Trade. 27. The abolition of forced State inspections; from the same Board.

The Chairman announced the next business in order to be the appointment of Committees on Credentials, Permanent Organization and Business. On motion of Mr. Kirkland, of Baltimore, a recess of fifteen minutes was taken to enable delegations to select and decide on members of the Committees.

On the reassembling of the Convention after the recess, the roll of the States was called, and the following gentlemen named by the delegations present from twenty-two States, as Chairmen of their respective delegations:

From Alabama, W. S. Gordon; Arkansas, Hon. E. H. English; Florida, R. B. Hilton; Georgia, E. C. Anderson; Indiana, Willard Carpenter; Iowa, P. M. Monroe; Kentucky, P. Caldwell; Louisiana, J. H. Kennard; Maine, John H. Kimbell; Maryland, W. Pinkley White; Michigan, William Wilmott; Wisconsin, Hon. E. G. Smith; Nebraska, E. A. Allen; New-Jersey, C. B. Guthrie; New-York, George S. Hazard; North Carolina, J. E. Stenhouse; Ohio, W. M. Ramsey; Pennsylvania, Gen. J. S. Negely; South Carolina, E. B. C. Cash; Tennessee, E. A. James; Virginia, W. W. Walker; West Virginia, C. J. Faulkner.

At the afternoon session, the Committee on Credentials reported 250 delegates present. R. M. Bishop, of Cincinnati, was chosen permanent President of the Convention with twenty-two Vice-Presidents. On assuming the chair Mr. Bishop made a short and pleasant address.

An animated and sharp discussion arose on the report of the Committee on Rules and the Order of Business. It was argued the present was an adjourned session of the Cincinnati Convention; that the business postponed from that body should be first in order here, as recommended by the Committee of Arrangements this forenoon, particularly as the reports were ready to be made on the subjects laid over to this Convention. A motion was made to amend by substituting the recommendation of the Committee of Arrangements as the order of business. Finally, the previous question was called and the report adopted, amended in the single respect of holding one daily session from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., instead of 3 P. M. Adjourned to 10 A. M. to-morrow.

The Jewish fast of Yom Hakipurim, the observance of which commenced on Sunday evening, terminated the days of repentance which began with the festival "Rosh Hashana," or New-Year. The preparations for this fast are very solemn. It is customary on the evening when it commences for parents to bestow their benedictions on their children, and the truly pious give this blessing with fervent and heart-felt emphasis. Last evening, in all the synagogues solemn services were performed. The twenty-four hours of solemn fasting end to-night with prayers imploring mercy and forgiveness for past sins.

THE TIDAL WAVE HOAX.

An Assistant United States Engineer Investigates the Report and is Quieted.

Major Walter Griswold, United States Assistant Engineer, in charge of the Bar and River Improvement, at Wilmington, N. C., has communicated to the Star of that city the subjoined correspondence:

OFFICE CAPE FEAR RIVER IMPROVEMENTS,
WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 16, 1871.

Prof. Agassiz, Harvard College, Cambridge, Mass.:

DEAR SIR: There are rumors in the papers of a great "Tidal Wave" on our coast, as imputed to scientific calculations made by you, to occur on the 5th or 6th proximo. I take the liberty of addressing you, and asking the simple question, if such a report emanated from you. Of course criticisms and laughable allusions are made by the Press and people to this prognostication, but owing to the immense property and numbers of men I have exposed upon the coast, improving the mouth of the Cape Fear River, I hardly deem it justice to them that I should treat this subject lightly. But in the absence of any official statement, I do not wish to be needlessly alarmed and act foolishly in removing property and men from a supposed unsafe position.

I presume you have received thousands of letters upon this subject, and I only wish you to consider my letter as not written in an alarmed state of mind, but as a duty I owe to the United States in protecting their property, and the lives of my men.

By an immediate reply you will oblige, most respectfully, your obedient servant,

WALTER GRISWOLD,
United States Assistant Engineer.

THE REPLY.

MUSEUM OF COMPARATIVE ZOOLOGY, AT HARVARD COLLEGE,
CAMBRIDGE, Mass.

Walter Griswold, Esq., United States Assistant Engineer, &c.:

DEAR SIR: In the absence of Prof. Agassiz, I have to acknowledge the receipt of your favor of the 16th inst. In answer to your inquiry I have to say that Prof. Agassiz has never expressed any opinion, scientific or otherwise, on the probable appearance of a "tidal wave" on our coast on the 5th or 6th proximo, nor has he ever prophesied the appearance of a tidal wave on any other coast at any other time. This report is entirely an invention of some newspaper penny-a-liner. I am Superintendent of Prof. Agassiz's Museum, and have been with him daily for a year past, and know that he has never expressed an opinion on this subject, or referred to it in any way, except as a subject of annoyance to him.

I am, your obedient servant,

THOMAS G. CAUP.

SINGULAR MISHAP.

Destruction of a Circus by Fire—A Tent and Forty Horses Burned.

Through a private letter the Milwaukee Sentinel obtains the following statements respecting losses which have befallen Older's Circus, at Reedsburg, while it was on its annual tour through the interior of Wisconsin:

"Older's show combined a circus, museum and menagerie, and consequently required a large number of horses for the transportation of the wagons and cages. Of 150 belonging to the institution, forty-one were destroyed by fire. On the conclusion of their entertainment at Reedsburg, on Wednesday night, eighty horses were provided with quarters under three large tents on the place of exhibition, each containing respectively twenty-five, twenty-seven, and twenty-eight horses. About 3 o'clock in the morning, when nearly ready to start for Baraboo, the canvas-men and drivers went to the hotel for breakfast, leaving no one in charge but a hostler belonging to one of the side-shows. Shortly after their departure the tent on the eastern extreme of the line, filled with straw to a depth of three feet for bedding purposes, caught fire from a torch, and in a short space of time nineteen horses were roasted to death. Twenty-one were rescued in a damaged condition, some with their eyes burnt out, some entirely skinned, and others with their hoofs so badly burned that blood streamed from their feet at every step. They were removed to the stables of the Mansion House and North-western Hotel, where, after inspection, a number were put to death. Several of the poor animals, wild with excitement and pain, strayed off into the country, and were found three or four miles from the scene of the disaster. The horses belonged mainly to the baggage-wagons, the company losing only one ring-horse.

The fire was a severe blow to Mr. Older, whose loss is estimated at $10,000. The company, though sadly crippled by this untoward circumstance, will, through the energy of the proprietor, renew its engagements for the season as soon as he can obtain a new complement of draught horses. The main tent, containing the menagerie, escaped destruction."

The Mormons—Charge of Judge McKean to the Grand Jury.

Chief-Justice McKean opened the Fall Term of the District Court in Salt Lake City, Utah, on Monday, Sept. 18. Three prominent Mormons were set aside in the organization of the Grand Jury, after which his Honor read the following charge:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury: You are summoned here not to try criminal cases, but to say what criminal cases shall be presented to the Court for trial. In the discharge of this grave duty you will be governed by the same principles of law which govern Grand Juries in Maine and Montana, in Georgia and Arizona—principles of law everywhere applicable throughout the Republic. The crimes of murder, arson, larceny, bigamy, adultery and riot in Utah are the same crimes elsewhere throughout our country and throughout Christendom. No conduct is criminal here which is not criminal elsewhere. If there is anything peculiar in the situation in Utah, it is the peculiar conduct of some men here, and not any peculiar principles or policy that are to be enforced here. Utah belongs to the United States, and the people of Utah, like the people of the rest of the country, are amenable to the laws of the United States. Those who obey the laws must be, shall be, protected in their rights. Those who do not obey the laws must answer for their disobedience at the bar of justice. And those men of influence who, in practice, defiantly trample upon the laws themselves, and by precept teach others to do so, should be the first to feel the firm grip of the law, rather than the obscure men whom they have misled. Gentlemen, it is your duty and mine, in our respective spheres, to enforce the laws. Let us do so without fear, favor, affection, prejudice, or the hope of reward.
